D.C. Charged With Discrimination

City Manager Rowe Denies 'Badly Imbalanced' Minority Hiring

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The hiring practices of Daly City have been labeled "discriminatory" by an ad hoc committee established recently to promote minority hiring.

Several members of the committee appeared at Monday night's council meeting to demand that present civil service examinations be changed to bring them "more in line" with today's needs.

Mel Tafoya called present hiring by Daly City "badly imbalanced" and asked for a "realistic minority balance" in future hiring.

He asked that a more positive program of employment for minorities be effected by the city.

"I'm not asking for a less strict examination, rather for a more valid, more realistic approach," Tafoya explained.

As an example, he cited the case of a custodian that is required to have an excessive degree of education for the job he is seeking.

Specifically the committee was asking the council to place a higher percentage of minorities in the 20 positions recently authorized by the federal government under the Emergency Employment Act of 1971.

City Mgr. David Rowe denied there was any discrimination in hiring employes for the city's 305 positions.

He said in the past ten years 18 per cent of the 100-odd posts filled were filled by minorities — blacks, Spanish surnames and Orientals.

According to Legal Aid Atty. Peter Reed, present percentage of the city's minority employees is 6.5.

In a letter drafted by Reed and other members of his office, it was pointed out that such a low percentage of minority employes constituted a "prima facie" case of employment discrimination.

Councilman Louis J. Papan, in almost an hour-long verbal exploration of the letter, was unable to pin Reed down on specific examples of discrimination within city hall.

Later, Mayor Bernard J. Lycett asked Reed for more concise outlines regarding some of the charges made both in the letter drafted by Reed's office and endorsed by the ad hoc committee and also from the floor, but finally gave up in admitted exasperation when Reed said it was up to the city to prove he was wrong in his charges, not for him to prove the city was wrong in their practices.

Rowe said in order to qualify for funding of the federal grant — which is for career jobs — the city had to submit samples of tests to the Department of Labor.

The Department of Labor approved the test procedure, Rowe said.

But the city council has the power to change these tests, Reed insisted.

Tafoya said the presentation, as far as he was concerned, was not an indictment of the city council.

He said there have been cases where a person taking a test for a city position did not fully understand the language used. Perhaps qualified linguists should administer the tests, he said.

After listening to a woman in the audience condemn the council for not understanding the plight of minority workers in the city, Councilman Papan said, "Unemployment has no ethnic boundaries."

And while he agreed minorities were a problem in the unemployment field, Papan said it was "hard to unscramble" who gets a job — an unemployed member of the minority community or an unemployed white.

"There is compassion here (on the council), it's not that there isn't any compassion," Papan said.

The councilman called the memo from Reed "offensive and in very bad taste."

Reed countered Papan's charges by saying "the memo was not meant to be offensive."

Mountain Won't Be 'Split,' the Developers Say

San Bruno Mountain will not be split up among surrounding cities, planners of the 3,600 acre "Visitation Rancho" development said Monday.

Officials of the Crocker Land Company, developers of the mountain, said whichever city—South San Francisco, Brisbane or Daly City—ends up annexing the property will get the complete package.

The package includes 290-acre Crocker Industrial Park on the east side of the mountain adjacent to Brisbane. This park will be expanded to 421 acres.

Reports recently compiled by the developer indicate the planned residential areas will eventually occupy a total 940 acres of low, medium and high density housing of the total 3,600 acres on the mountain.

Eventual population when the mountain is completely developed (during the next 25 years) is estimated at 26,000—far below the 38,000 figure of two years ago.

An employment base of 8,000 will be generated between the industrial park and commercial development. This figure is sufficient to maintain the residentail area, project director Frank Calton explained.

There is another possibility the developer has not ruled out if a substitute for annexation to the three primary cities lying at its doorstep must be found. That is, to incorporate Visitacion Rancho into a separate city.

The San Mateo County Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) is scheduled to discuss plans for the mountain at its Wednesday meeting in Daly City.

Calton and his basic planning team, which includes John Badgley (architect-planner) and Donald N. Hohl (chief engineer), feel it will take at least ten years, and possibly between 15 to 25 years to complete their plan for the landmark.

In recent months public opinion and attitudes, especially on conservation of plant and wildlife, have played a key role in planned development of Visitacion Rancho, Calton said.

"The mountain is not a big block of land stuck out in the sticks somewhere, therefore we must consider the impact on communities around it," Calton said.

The Crocker team has learned to listen to the people on developing the area, it was pointed out by Badgley.

Presently the company pays almost $600 per day in property taxes on the mountain. This figure does not include taxes paid for the industrial park and other developed areas owned by Crocker Land.

Included in the plans, in addition to the housing and commercial development, is the planting of redwood trees to both enhance the looks of the barren property and also to attempt to improve weather conditions on the southwest slopes.

Traffic flows have been figured at a maximum daily 6.3 cars per housing unit. The county's average peak figure is 6.7.

D.C. Growth Through BART Seen

The opening of the Bay Area Rapid Transit station at Daly City will give impetus to development of the area surrounding it, Daly City merchants were told Thursday.

Councilman Louis J. Papan, speaking to a luncheon meeting of the Mission Merchants Association, said thought must be given to the ramifications of BART when it comes to the city.

He said the council's efforts in recent years have been directed at figuring out ways and means to broaden the city's tax base.

"This (BART) station will have a great impact on our city. And I hope when the time comes we can look to the Mission Street merchants for assistance," Papan said.

Papan, who has been on the city council for more than two years, said the council was "going to need a lot of help" when the development spark hits the BART station area.

"We cannot allow haphazard development of the (BART) area," Papan said.

He cautioned merchants to be aware of new developments within Daly City and to be in a position to help out "whenever the need arises."

Papan said such assistance had been offered in the past and would be welcome by the city in the future.

San Mateo County Supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler had been the scheduled speaker, however she had to break the speaking engagement at the last minute, it was learned.

Not a 'Meeting'

Freeway Opponents Want a 'Hearing'

Freeway opponents told San Bruno councilmen they would continue to seek a hearing on the Route 380 environmental report, rather than merely a meeting.

Alan Hart, Division IV engineer, writing that "I share your concern," agreed to a meeting on Wednesday, November 10. He listed seven meetings and hearings on the freeway since 1962. Mayor Maury Hamilton announced that he would seek to make it a joint special meeting with the school board.

School board representative Leonard Sarkon, however, asked if there were a difference between a hearing and a meeting.

"We asked for a hearing."

Hamilton and Acting City Mgr. Leo Van Dusen assured him that the difference was technical, the Division of Highways cannot hold hearings, only the Highway Commission can. However, the deadline for entrance into the record of the Environmental Report has been exetnded and citizens can express their concerns at the meeting, to be incorporated into the report.

Orville Wycoff of Trenton Drive, however, was not satisfied.

"Let's ask the commission for a hearing," he demanded. "I know we have an agreement, but conditions change."

He cited the final report just hours before of the Airport Access Study, recommending local rapid transit.

He asked if the meeting would involve possible "reconsideration of the entire project," and Hamilton answered "no." "Then it would be pointless to hold the meeting," Wykoff retorted.

Wykoff called for a good deal more research into environmental considerations.

"I want to be assured that the fog line will not be moved from Sneath Lane to San Bruno Avenue.

Councilman Tony Governale promised that he would introduce a resolution calling for a hearing if necessary—after the meeting with the Division of Highways.

Hillsdale Plan Is Defeated

To Deane & Deane Vice President Bob Hardesty, it was "an imaginative plan for hillside homes . . . designed to create a feeling similar to a European hillside village."

To the San Bruno Planning Commission, however, it was simply too much density. They voted down the request to rezone the San Bruno portion of the 496-home development from R-1 (single family) to PD (planned development).

After a vote, a stunned Hardesty indicated that he is considering carrying on the rezoning request to the San Bruno City Council. Pacifica's Plan-

$500,000 Libel Action

Teachers, Parents' Group Sued

A $500,000 libel suit was filed in Superior Court in Redwood City Friday by a consulting firm that was involved in the recent teacher strike in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Named as defendants are the Concerned Parents for Better Schools, which backed the teachers, the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, California Teachers' Association, and National Education Association.

Plaintiffs are Raymond Vetterlein, Eugene Aiello, David J. Friedenberg, and their firm, Public Labor Relations Inc.

The lawsuit contends that Concerned Parents for Better Schools was organized "for the purpose of fronting for teachers engaged in an illegal strike . . . and for the purpose of giving them control of said school district."

The alleged libel, according to the complaint, was contained in a petition which was circulated for the recall of members of the district board of trustees. The offending language, the suit states, was "The Board of Trustees . . . hired, with school money, incompetent, outside negotiators."

The statement, and its meanings, were false, the suit declares, and the defendants knew it. As a result, accoridng to the document, "plaintiffs have been brought into public disgrace and disrepute, and are being held in hatred, contempt and ridicule, and suid statements have had a tendency to, and did, injure plaintiffs in their business, trade and occupation."

The suit asks $250,000 general and special damages and $250,000 exemplary and punitive damages.

Named as defendants as members of Concerned Parents for Better Schools are Mrs. Carolyn Huertas, Mrs. Carolyn Kelly, Mrs. E. Brewster, Mrs. Camillo, Vera Padilla, Thomas Kilpatrick, Joan Kilpatrick, Mrs. Janet Schwimmer, and 60 "John Does."

Dog Owners Feel 'Bite' Of New Law

Daly City dog owners who allow their pets to run loose are beginning to feel the bite of a new ordinance enacted last month.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky said Thursday two persons cited by the San Mateo County Humane Society for letting their dogs run loose pleaded guilty in Municipal Judge Walter Cappacciolis' court and were fined $15 plus penalty assessments.

Two others had their cases continued, according to Polonsky.

Since the law was passed some 16 persons have been cited.

Twelve dog owners are now awaiting action on their citations.

The Humane Society officer writes citations on-the-spot, Polonsky said.

This saves considerable time and paperwork over the previous complaint system concerning unleashed dogs.

Those cited had allegedly allowed their dogs to run loose, and had no license or license not visible.

"The people should know we are enforcing this new law. And we are keeping records on persons violating it. Those persons found violating the law for the second time will be hit even harder," Polonsky warned.

Strike Threat In Millbrae

Threat of a strike by custodial and maintenance employes loomed over the Millbrae School District Board of Education at its Monday night meeting, held at Chadbourne School.

Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen, representing the board, has been meeting with officials of the Central Labor Council of San Mateo repeatedly since April 14. During this time, 13 various adjustments to salary schedule structures, dollar compensation and fringe benefits have been discussed, with a 4.1 per cent across the board salary increase, an increase of from $25 to $39 a month in fringe benefits, liberalization of paid vacation time and annual increments proposed by the board.

Recall Movement

Active Role by Teachers?

The Political Action Council of Teachers (PACT) and the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association have joined hands in an effort to oust three members of the JESD board of trustees.

It is apparently the first time the JCTA has moved into the political field.

A letter distributed to "Dear Colleague," dated October 29, from Jane Lualhati, vice-chairman of PACT, outlined the current recall movement against trustees Mrs. Dorothy Adams, Albert Collett and William Schumacher.

In the letter it was explained that the "JCTA is going to actively work for the recall movement already in progress. This campaign is operating under the direction of the Parents Concerned for Our Schools.

It said PACT will act as "coordinating agency" for the teachers.

Last Friday, Raymond Vetterlein, Eugene Aiello and David J. Friedenberg filed a libel suit in Redwood City for $500,000 against the Concerned Parents for Better Schools, the JCTA, California Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

The lawsuit charged the defendants with being a "front organization" for the teachers who were engaged in an illegal strike recently.

Friedenberg said the organizations labeled him and his firm "incompetent" as negotiators.

Friedenberg said the letter issued by PACT "proves they are tied in with the JCTA."

The PACT organization is asking teacher-members to donate $10 each to carry on a political campaign aimed at recalling the three trustees.

"We're involved in a political campaign—there's no denying that. And political campaigns cost money."

The money will be used to pay off advertising in the city's semi-weekly newspaper, billboard ads, direct mailings and such personal contacts as coffee klatches.

Without the $10 donation the letter predicts the movement will fall apart.

Transit Link To Airport: $390 Million

A rapid transit link between Daly City, International Airport and Burlingame will cost some $390 million and take seven years to build, the San Francisco Airport Access Project Board of Control was told last week.

The report concluded 14 months of studies by various government agencies and civic groups.

Costing some $550,000 in mostly federal monies the final report urged negotiations between San Mateo County, San Francisco County and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District start immediately.

Without an agreement between these bodies the transit extension will be delayed and, perhaps, have to be scrapped, the board was informed.

"We advise immediate negotiations to advance the airport extension project, and at the same time, complete the study of a BART line south from the airport to Menlo Park," Lawrence Dahms, coordinator for the project, told the Board today at a meeting held in Daly City.

Such an extension—from International Airport to Menlo Park — must be underway by 1972 in order to be operable by 1980, Dahms said.

The report did not include San Mateo's cost of "joining" the transit district once an extension down the Peninsula is completed.

The report calls for negotiation of an annexation agreement between BART and San Mateo County, or some type of joint powers agreement between

As Patrons Watch

The Chase Went Round and Round

Patrons at a Daly City drive-in restaurant watched in awe last week as a police car with siren wailing and red lights flashing chased a running man around the building several times before apprehending him.

The man, an auto theft suspect, was finally nabbed as he tried to climb over a fence at the rear of the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant on Geneva Avenue shortly before 6 p.m.

The incident started routinely enough with Daly City Policeman Bill Moeller spotting a car on Geneva Avenue with its rear lights out and no license plates.

He motioned for the suspect car to pull to the side of the road. Instead, the driver sped off, did a "U" turn on Geneva and doubled back — with Moeller in hot pursuit.

At the corner of Geneva and Schwerin the car sideswiped a parked car, continued to the restaurant where it smashed into another parked car owned by James Palmer of San Francisco.

The suspect, later identified as John E. Webb of San Francisco, jumped from the car while it was still moving, rolled on the ground and got up running.

Moeller decided to give chase with the police car.

"He (Webb) was running around that restaurant at around 20 miles per hour," Moeller reported.

As Webb tried to climb over the fence, Moeller rammed the police car into it, jarring the suspect loose.

Webb was charges with driving a stolen car owned by Robert Charles of San Francisco, it and run, drunk driving and resisting arrest.

Webb was taken to Marys' Help Hospital for threatment of a broken left foot, apparently suffered in the fall from the fence.

An Ice Pick Stabbing on Hallowe'en

A 26-year-old Sacramento man, visiting his brother in San Bruno, was stabbed in the chest with an ice pick Sunday.

San Bruno police said they learned of the incident only on Monday.

"Trick or treat!" two men said to Carl L. Hardwick, who was alone at the apartment of his brother Wade at 796 Masson Avenue, according to police.

First there was a conversation, then an argument, the authorities said, and Hardwick, who was standing outside the apartment by that time, was stabbed by one of the two young men.

Hardwick ran and knocked on a neighbor's door and asked for help.

He was transported to Peninsula Hospital, where a spokesman said he remained in serious condition today in the intensive care unit.

Lucky Store Is Open in Daly City

Youth, 19, Charged In Burglary

A 19-year-old youth was arrested in Millbrae on Monday and charged with a $4,000 burglary in Burlingame.

Martin A. Napoli, 135 Garden Lane, was first arrested by Millbrae police on a charge of trespassing in the 100 block on Magnolia Avenue.

Police said his car matched the description of one seen near a Burlingame burglary and they notified the neighboring city's officers.

In Napoli's apartment, said officers, they found several items.

Burlingame police charged Napoli with the burglary of an apartment belonging to Gerald Eason, 1560 Los Montes Avenue

Officers said Eason reported loss of an expensive camera tape recorder, a guitar, amplifier, speakers, and other items.

Police said more than $3500 worth of goods was recovered.

Napoli, they report, suffered heroin withdrawal symptoms during questioning, and was treated by a local doctor.

Blaze Guts D.C. Home

Fire of undetermined origin gutted a one-bedroom Daly City home early Sunday, causing an estimated $20,000 damage.

Daly City Fire Department Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander said flames were coming from all the windows of the home when he arrived shortly after 5:23 a.m.

The house, at 103 Shakespeare, is on the Daly City-San Francisco line and San Francisco fire units helped extinguish the fire.

A fire at 11:20 a.m. Saturday caused an estimated $9500 damage to an apartment at 743 Templeton.

County Phone Bill Paid by St. Clair

County Supervisor Robert St. Clair has paid $325 to settle the county's claim against him for alleged misuse of the county telephone installed in his Millbrae home and his county telephone credit card.

St. Clair said the amount was a compromise of the bill sent to him by District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson on instructions from the County Grand Jury. Deputy District Attorney James Aiello said, however, that the amount was "within a couple of dollars of the exact amount we figured."

Aiello said that he and Joseph Geller, St. Clair's lawyer, agreed on the $325 reimbursement. He added that he and Geller are continuing to negotiate on the county's bill to St. Clair for alleged personal use of the county car assigned to the supervisor.

St. Clair, however, said that he has not received an itemized claim for use of the car and that nothing will be done about it until one is received.

The total bill sent to St. Clair, including alleged personal use of both the car and the phones, was reportedly in the neighborhood of $2,000.

St. Clair issued a press release denying any wrong-doing and again blaming the situation on an attempt by Sorenson to discredit him. The supervisor has called the whole affair an attempt by political enemies to thwart any plans he might have to run for the State Assembly next year. He has not said, however, that he plans to run for the state office but only that he is considering it.

Ex-Prep Grid Star Faces Trial

Willie H. Cook, who was an all-star football player at Jefferson High School in Daly City, is scheduled to go to trial in Superior Court at Redwood City November 8 on a charge of armed robbery.

Cook, 20, now a sophomore at the University of California, Berkeley, is accused of the $60 holdup of the Evergreen Market in Daly City last April 30.

Cook racked up a total of 1101 yards rushing as a halfback during his senior year in 1968 and scored a total of six touchdowns in one game (against Half Moon Bay) that year. He attended College of San Mateo in 1969, but didn't make the first team there.

Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley scheduled the trial date when Cook appeared in court for a pre-trial conference Friday.

Assault Charge Holds SSF Man

Daly City policeman Ed Jensen arrested and booked Gus Mead, 21, of 132 Longford Drive, South San Francisco after the suspect allegedly tried to strike him in the face on Sunday.

Police said the suspect's car hit a house at 674 Hillside Boulevard, Daly City, causing an undetermined amount of damage.

Mead allegedly assaulted officers during questioning about the accident, police said. No one was hurt in the vehicle or house.

ning Commission will consider their half of the site at next Monday's meeting.

Of the 67 acres, 28.6 are in San Bruno, but San Bruno's sector would have included most of the homes — 258, for a density of 11 units per acre, within San Bruno. The Pacifica sector, on the other hand, contains a large open space between Westview and the new proposed project.

Hardesty and Architect Kenneth Natkin presented a series of slides and models showing their concept. Wildflowers and deer now occupying the site would continue to do so after the development, they averred, since the cluster principle would group the homes together and leave wide, open spaces.

Daly City Night at Cow Palace

Last Tuesday was Daly City night at the Grand National Livestock Show.

Most city officials attended the event, which included a dinner party in the Arena Lounge at the Cow Palace starting at 6 p.m. and the show starring the musical riders of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Monday was Veterans Day and the council held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The council breezed through a short agenda in less than an hour.

Mayor Bernard Lycett, councilmen Frank Pacelli and Louis J. Papan moved to endorse the concept of a proposed low cost neuter and spay clinic for dogs and cats in the county.

Pedro Creek Park Name

If Pacifica's council members have any say, the name of San Pedro Creek Park will remain just that — San Pedro Creek Park.

Council members Tuesday night backed the Park, Beach and Recreation Commission recommendation to hold out to the county board of supervisors for that name.

The commissioners said they were concerned that once the park is finished pressure will come to bear to name the park for someone not familiar to the community.

BART Airport Link Costly

BART, San Mateo and San Francisco counties as the first "urgent step" to be taken.

Annexation would assure San Mateo a full and equal representation — four directors — on the BART Board, but would specify property taxes as the means of meeting its share of capital costs.

Such a venture would have to be approved by voters in the county — a venture some observers feel is doomed to failure.

On the other hand, a joint powers agreement would entail far less representation on the BART Board. However, it would allow San Mateo to raise required funds any way it chose.

Either form of agreement would be acceptable to BART, Dahms said.

An agreement could also result in an input of new funds for BART, reduced district property taxes and early retirement of the current one-half cent district sales tax, the report noted.

"San Mateo would receive regional rapid transit at a fraction of its actual cost by using other fund sources," Dahms said.

Dahms called annexation and a joint powers agreement "two different paths to the same objective."

The report gave directors a chance to see their year-long efforts put together in one package.

And in what was termed "a rare instance," the study came in with a $60,000 surplus of funds.

Although San Mateo County has recently undertaken a separate study of extending rapid transit south from the Burlingame area, Dahms emphasized there was "no advantage in waiting until completion of the county's study" before proceeding with negotiations on the Daly City-Airport link.

Details of financing must be worked out after each agency determines which way it will enter the agreement — if at all.

Bill Lathrop, engineering consultant on the project, said there was a possibility of securing some $260 million of the total monies from federal sources.

While there are no available state funds for a rapid transit extension, this avenue will also be explored.

Other steps recommended in the early action program to extend BART through the county include:

Resolving the station location in Millbrae along with location of a turnaround yard in Burlingame (recently opposed by some 200 homeowners and residents of the area).

Establishment of a continuing community information program participated in by county residents.

Initiation of a lobby in Sacramento.

The report did not include San Mateo's cost of "joining" the transit district once an extension down the Peninsula is completed.

A breakdown indicated inflation would chew up $95.2 million even with President Nixon's battle against such escalation in costs.

Using the current dollar value, cost of completing the link—including a Millbrae station—is $289.4 million.

But this figure does not include possible participation in any costs involving the station at International Airport or costs of joining the BART system.

Negotiations

The report calls for negotiabetween BART and San Mateo County, or some type of joint powers agreement between BART, San Mateo and San Francisco counties as the first "urgent step" to be taken.

Pacifica Family Flees Fire

A Pacifica family of six was put out into the cold night air as their home burst into flames at about 2:25 a.m.

Firemen were called to 684 Manor Drive a two-story wood frame building, by a resident who had seen smoke while he was at a nearby all-night market.

According to authorities, the fire started in the garage near the furnace. It went up the two-stories to the roof. The exact cause is still under investigation. No estimates of loss are available, firemen said.

Two engines, six utility rigs and a contingent of 26 men, including 11 volunteers and eight off-duty firemen fought the blaze. There were no injuries.

D.A. Files Lesser Complaint

An amended complaint has been filed by the district attorney's office reducing a murder charge against Georgia Anne Bohlen to voluntary manslaughter.

Miss Bohlen, 23, was arrested last June 25, along with Wanda Jean Studley, 23, following the death of Edgar Garrison, 47-year-old Redwood City salesman, in a South San Francisco hotel room.

The two women originally were charged with murder on the allegation that they gave Garrison a "mickey" which caused his death.

Miss Studley pleaded guilty last week to a charge of second degree murder.

Following filing of the amended complaint yesterday against Miss Bohlen, Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley continued the matter to November 26 at 2 p.m. for entering of a plea.

Sentencing of Miss Studley is scheduled for November 12 at 9 a.m.

Pacifica Officer Promoted

Pacifica's juvenile officer Tony Guardino has been promoted to captain. He will now head the patrol division.

In other promotions announced this week in the Pacifica Police Department, Bill Tafoya and Joe Santos were elevated to sergeant status.

All three promotions followed written and oral testing.

Seven police officers from outside the city applied for the captain position won by the 32-year-old Guardino.

With Guardino taking over the patrol division, Captain Bruce Rivers will move to the administrative services division and Captain Ray Shipley will head the detective division.

3 Bandits Hit Market

Three armed men relieved a private patrol guard of his sidearm and proceeded to rob the often-hit Daly City all-night Mayfair Market on Geneva Avenue shortly after 7 p.m. Saturday.

Police said there is no estimate of loss available.

According to the authorities, the three men, described at Negro adults, tall and thin with afro hairstyles, walked in at 7:07 p.m.

One of the suspects sought out and got the drop on security guard John Vandenburg, while the other two removed money from checkstands, police said.

The suspects were last seen fleeing on foot.

Pacifica City Policy Vetoed

Pacifica council members last Tuesday rescinded an earlier city policy that said chairmanships of committees and commissions must be alternated annually.

The decision came on the motion of Councilman Stan Farber who said the decision ought to be up to the individual boards and commissions as to whether they want to retain the chairman they have selected.

Save San Bruno Mtn. Group Tells Views

By BOB PETERSON

What about San Bruno Mountain? Will it become San Mateo County's open space preserve, or the bridge for a continuous flow of humanity from San Francisco to San Jose?

This was the question given admittedly biased discussion last week in South San Francisco El Camino Little Theater by some 100 conservationists out to save the mountain for a regional park.

The meeting was sponsored by Citizens for Responsible Government, a civic group which some time back held a meeting at South San Francisco city hall to give the Crocker Land Company (owners of the mountain) a chance to present its position.

Last night voices from the other side of the mountain were heard.

Mrs. Bette Higgins, South San Francisco housewife who started the Save the Mountain Committee, was the first speaker. She introduced a panel of other speakers including Sierra Club representatives Claire Dedrick and Jack Lindley, San Mateo County's conservation chairman of the club.

Also speaking briefly were Dr. Elizabeth McClintock of the California Academy of Science and author of a book on the flora and fauna of the mountain, and Brisbane Recreation Commissioner Mike Kaiser.

In the audience was Crocker representative Jerry Noble.

Mrs. Higgins said a citizens' petition is being prepared by volunteer environmental attorneys, whose names were not mentioned. She said the petitions, asking to save the mountain, will be presented to the County Board of Supervisors after names have been gathered.

She urged that in the meantime those interested in saving the mountain as a regional park should write letters to newspapers, to the county supervisors and councilmen in the cities of Daly City, Brisbane, South San Francisco and Colma, surrounding the mountain.

"It all begins and ends with your elected officials," said Mrs. Higgins. There must must be pressure placed on these elected officials. Mrs. Higgins cited cases such as the Willow Glenn Freeway revolt in Menlo Park, the Sugarloaf Mountain uproar in San Mateo and public concern about putting a freeway through Crestmoor Canyon from San Bruno to Pacifica as examples of how public pressure is the only way to get the attention of elected officials.

Claiming to be able to provide documentation on it, she said the county coffers presently contain more than $3 million as part of this year's budget for land acquisition.

"Yet, not one word is said about buying mountain property," she said. "This is my answer to those who say why doesn't the public buy the mountain. A regional park in the North County has been top priority since 1965. Yet, almost $1 million (supposedly above the $3 million figure) went back into the general fund because, we were told, there was no property to buy."

Mrs. Higgins also pointed at the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway that runs over the top of the mountain from Daly City to the Bay side, saying that it was over $1 million of public tax money that went into the building of that road.

"The developer will get FHA money and HUD (Housing and Urban Development) money (to develop). That's our money," she said. "Why don't our elected officials fight for it," a reference to the fact a possibility exists for obtaining federal grants under the legacy of parks program which would pay for up to 75 per cent of the purchase price for a regional park.

Mrs. Higgins also chastised the general public for not getting out and becoming more involved. "We (in the North County) are looked upon as people who don't really care. Most of us think we are part of San Francisco. We've sold out long enough to developers," said Mrs. Higgins.

Lindley said the Sierra Club's position is, and always has been, that the entire mountain should be preserved in its natural state. The audience was told there was some 542 species of plants on the mountain, plus wildlife, including deer and rabbits.

According to Lindley 5,000 members of the Sierra Club in San Mateo Couny can be called upon to campaign towards preserving the mountain.

But Lindley's basic pitch was the question of whether it would be financially advantageous to develop the mountain. He said public funds subsidize developers more than most people realize, particularly through taxes for services such as sewers, roads and the like.

Citing a Stanford Environmental Law Society Study, Lindley said it was proven to be cheaper for public purchase of proposed development areas than to have the area developed.

The main reason for this is the added costs of services for police, fire and schools, among others. "A development is not paid for by the people within that development. It is paid for by all the people in that city," said Lindley.

He too recommended citizen pressure as the only means of combating such situations.

Mrs. Dedrick, who is director of the Peninsula Center of the Sierra Club in Menlo Park and secretary on the national level for the organization, said, "Even in the South County we are aware of the need for a regional park in the North County."

She said the fundamental question to be answered is what actually is the best and highest use for the mountain. This, she said, has not been determined and until it is it would be premature for LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission) to take actin of any kind on the matter of sphere of influence on the four cities surrounding the mountain.

LAFCO is scheduled to hear a presentation by Crocker of its development proposal at 2 p.m.. Wednesday, at the Daly City City Hall.

Mrs. Higgins said the Daly City councilmen are scheduled to review Crocker's plans at the city's November 15 council meeting. The city had previously indicated it was not interested in Crocker's proposal.

Mrs. Dedrick said that a complete study should be made to determine the mountain's highest and best use and then the matter should become one of "broad public discussion because it affects everyone living on this Peninsula."

"It is not a decision (to develop or not develop) you make in 60 days, nor one that should be made in back rooms or between LAFCO and a developer," she said.

Mrs. Dedrick said that anyone who thinks a LAFCO decision is not critical is fooling themselves. "Once the sphere of influence has been established zoning becomes a matter of the local city council. None of the four cities involved is in the forefront of modern planning methods," she said.

Moratorium Hearing Set On Sharp Park Area

By BOB PETERSON

Pacifica council members last week set November 16 as the date for a public hearing on the question of whether to continue a building moratorium in the western Sharp Park area.

The city officials also approved a rezoning of an approximately two-acre parcel within the bounds of the moratorium area from a planned development to a multiple residential zoning.

Theoretically the two decisions are unrelated. Actually they are significantly tied together. The granting of the rezoning paves the way for issuance of a building permit, and the moratorium prevents that issuance.

Realtor John Geary, representing the property owners of the rezoned parcel, Hazel Hickola and Vincent J. Cozzolino, said his clients are ready to begin construction of an apartment complex.

According to Geary, the city plans to redevelop the area anyhow, so why not use this planned 73-unit complex to build around, since the zoning is in accordance with the master plan?

Councilman Stan Farber pointed out that the governing body does not know what is desired, or best, for that area and that is the reason for the November 16 public hearing.

Even with the granting of the rezoning, the developer, Edenvale Construction Company of San Jose, can't obtain the necessary permits for 30 days.

This time limit lies beyond the November 16 hearing date, so the council members say they will be able to make a decision before the permits are issued.

City Atty. John Sherman said that if the decision is to continue the moratorium for a year the two-acre parcel in question would be included in the building freeze.

However, Sherman said he also was concerned that legal moves would be taken against the city to allow the developer to build.

On the basis of this possibility, he asked for an executive session to discuss whether the city should grant the rezoning. Sherman said that he had been told that the city would be sued if the acreage were not zoned to the desired zoning.

Outside the executive chambers Geary denied that he or his clients had threatened a lawsuit. He did say, however, that he had become aware of a U.S. Supreme Court decision which in essence said a developer's property couldn't be condemned.

Geary said he has been working with the city for six months or more on the proposed apartments. He said he had plans prepared under the planned development zoning and would be willing to alter them for multiple density residential.

He said the developer has $20,000 already tied up in the project, just on the drawing board. "We don't care what zoning we get," he said. "My only complaint is that they (city) are delaying us deliberately because they want federal redevelopment of that area. My people can't hold that (project) together for a year. They're unhappy," said Geary.

Councilman Nick Gust made the motion to grant the rezoning, saying the council members could sit all night debating the issue.

He said he based his motion on the fact that the rezoning and the moratorium were separate issues. Gust said on November 16 the council members can decide whether to continue the moratorium, and do whatever is necessary from that point.

Computer Survey on Water Plant

A computer will keep tabs on all funds involved in Pacifica's planned waste water treatment plant, outfall line and fishing pier project.

Council members last Tuesday authorized retaining the firm of Diehl, Evans and Company to assist Finance Director Mark Savage in the development and implementation of computer processing of the accounting records of the state and federal grants for the project.

In making the request for the assistance, Savage said the state and federal governments often question (after a project is completed) the accounting procedures and ask for a return of some funds.

Savage said with the entire accounting done on computers it will be easier for the city to have a full accounting and to be able to answer any questions concerning accountability.

City Manager Jim Swayne said the cost of the work would not exceed $4000 and that he would attempt to meet these costs from the existing budget.

Plumbing Code Debate in Bruno

San Bruno city councilmen decided Wednesday night that they would rather have higher building standards than uniformity in building codes.

They rejected a compromise that had been worked out with labor, business and government officials and voted to ban plastic pipe from San Bruno plumbing. They will act upon the new ordinance at next week's city council meeting.

The 1970 plumbing code had been held over from July 26, when local residents as well as labor officials protested easing of a dozen different restrictions in plumbing. Councilman Tony Governale had been appointed to investigate the situation. Wednesday night, he presented the compromise draft which had been worked out between labor union leaders, contractor association representatives and the City of Daly City.

According to Governale, the compromise was being adopted by a number of other local cities in order that there be a certain measure of uniformity from city to city. He said that the new measure — contrary to the proposed national code — retains most of the higher standards that local codes have already had, such as four-inch sewer lines.

The compromise would have permitted plastic pipe where the building inspector ruled it would be applicable, but would not constitute an approved material.

Councilman Margaret Kozkowski objected that her husband sells chemicals "and what won't they do to plastic pipes?" She asked "What in the name of God would there be a need for using plastic pipes?"

Resident Mike Kaiser told the councilmen that "you'd save yourself a lot of trouble if you would just delete it."

With that, Councilman Neil Christal moved to delete the use of plastic pipe from the code.

Councilmen voted unanimously to ban plastic.

Building Inspector Melvin Bredlow, who had a hand at drawing up some of the national uniform building codes through his professional organization, rose to protest.

"This is an example where a small group tries to settle a matter of importance which should be handled at the level of the annual conference," he said.

He declared that plastic pipes had been used in San Bruno since 1965. "It's been used in hundreds of homes and apartments . . . I have yet to have one complaint."

Also protesting the council's decision was Gordon Blakely, executive officer of the Peninsula Builders Assn.

This code will now permit "Romex-type" cable — a heavily insulated electrical cable which is reputed to save several hundreds of dollars in every home, as well as aid "do-it-yourselfers." It may only be used, however, in single family homes, construction of which has almost died out in San Bruno. Multiple dwellings and commercial construction would be required to use all cable encased in metal pipe.

Woman Hurt

A young San Francisco woman was slightly injured on Monday when her car struck the rear of another vehicle at the corner of Lake Merced and Alemany Avenues.

Nancy Sheldon, 21, was taken to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment of lacerations on her face after her car hit a car driven by Charles Rich, 60, of 185 Pacifica Avenue, Pacifica, about 6 a.m.

San Bruno Official Hit By Auto

San Bruno's Director of Parks and Recreation Mike Kiely was the victim of a hit-run accident Thursday.

Kiely was said in satisfactory condition Friday at Kaiser Hospital, Redwood City, with a broken right leg and left hand.

According to police, the 53-year-old director was crossing El Camino Real eastbound at Angus Avenue at about 11 p.m. when struck by a vehicle driven by Theodore John Schwartz, 18, of 621 Burrows Avenue, San Bruno.

Police said the vehicle was traveling in the center northbound lanes. The driver fled the scene but turned himself in at the police station about an hour after the accident, police said. He was booked for felony hit and run.

Kiely had been attending a meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission at city hall and had walked across the street to the Pancake House restaurant for a cup of coffee, a common routine of many after meetings at city hall.

Police said Kiely was taken initially to Peninsula Hospital, Burlnigame, and then transferred to the Kaiser facility in Redwood City.

Coast Fine Arts Series Starts Friday

Guitarist George Sakellariou will be presented in concert Friday in the premiere performance of the Pacifica Fine Arts Series.

The concert, beginning at 8 p.m., will be held at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, 1031 Valencia Way.

Sakellariou graduated with the highest honors from the Conservatory of Athens in his native Greece; in 1964 he was among the nine students chosen by Andres Segovia to perform daily in the Master Class held at the University of California at Berkeley.

Sakellariou has given concerts and has appeared on television networks in Canada, South America and Europe, as well as in the United States. Music critics from cities around the world have praised his skill and his delivery, hailing him as "one of the foremost guitarists of the nation . . . and perhaps one of the new masters of the guitar."

Sakellariou is a member of the faculty of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and Dominican College of San Rafael.

His recital in Pacifica will feature a variety of classical and Spanish selections.

The concert is the first program in the Fine Arts Series arranged by the Pacifica Fine Arts Council in conjunction with Intersection, the San Francisco Center for Religion and the Arts.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE MCALLISTER

FOOTBALL is said to be a man's sport, but on October 28th Jeff girls displayed their talents on the Grid Iron. Originally the Jeff Powder Puff Team consisting of senior girls were to play Lowell Powder Puffers but Lowell bowed out the day before the contest and a senior co-ed game was organized.

The girls used old left over jerseys big enough for 2 or possibly 3 people. Obviously due to size disadvantge the girls on both teams should be congratulated for their courage.

THIS YEAR the Jeff Girls P.E. Department has entered the N.P.L. in numerous sports. During this semester a Swimming Team and a Gymnastic Team have already entered in competition. Results are promising.

On October 26 the gymnastic team defeated Oceana, Half Moon Bay and Terra Nova and following in their footsteps the Swimming Team beat South San Francisco 72-21.

ON NOVEMBER 13, the Junior Class will hold a pancake breakfast to help raise money for its senior year. The breakfast costs only $1.85 for adults and 50 cents for children under 18. At the breakfast the students will award a 10 speed bike.

THE HORSE BACK Riding Club attended the Grand National at the Cow Palace on October 22 to see the fascinating exhibitions of style including an event with their adviser Emmet Tierney. Mr. Tierney said upon returning to school he was extremely proud attending the event with his students and he has never been embarrassed by the actions of any Jefferson group in his many years of working with the student body.

This activity was an extra attraction for the club besides the weekly rides from Palomar Stables every Wednesday and participaton in the Homecoming Parade on November 19.

SPEAKING OF HOMECOMING, The Spirit Weeks this year are October 26, 29, Seniors, November 1-5 Juniors, November 8-12 Sophomores, and November 15-19 Freshmen. These weeks are to be utilized by each class to bring the class together in spirit using activities such as the Co-Ed Football Game or any other healthy activity.

All of these activities are climaxed the day of Homecoming November 19 with a varsity football game against Terra Nova and a dance that night in which the four princesses and queen will be crowned. No one will know the results of the election until the moment they are announced that night.

Mrs. Wilson's 95th Birthday

The members of the Fifty Plus Club will honor Mrs. Lulu Wilson, who will celebrate her ninty-fifth birthday soon, at a covered dish luncheon in the Pacifica Library next Wednesday, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the group.

The day will be a special one for all senior members of the club and a large turnout is expected to be on hand to wish them well, Mrs. Calhan said. In addition to Mrs. Wilson the club boasts another nonagenarian, Claude Putnam, who will be among the celebrants on Tuesday. Life members of the group include Mrs. Ressa Wolf, Hershel Harkins, Mrs. Bessie Harkins, Mrs. Anatasia Gust, Mrs. Ethel Austin, Mrs. Peggy Wilson, Mrs. Ethel Schellenger and Mrs. Calhan.

Mrs. Louise Barnard is over-all chairman of the luncheon. Assisting her will be a large committee of volunteers.

MEMBERS OF THE Holy Angels Women's Guild will meet this evening to hear a talk by Sister Michaela, the principal of the parish's Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes.

According to Mrs. George Sigigie, publicity chairman for the guild, the meeting, to be held in the parish hall, will begin at 8 p.m.. A brief business session will proceed the talk on New Informative and Creative Activities in Religion by Sister Michaela.

On the advance calendar for the parish women is a day of Recollection to be lead by Father John D. Riley of the Community of St. Andrews.

Women interested in exploring the role of women in the modern congregation with Father Riley are asked to reserve November 18 for the event.

THE P-TA UNIT at Abraham Lincoln School will present a Book Fair and Learning Festival on November 15, 16 nd 17, according to Mrs. William Holland, the publicity chairman for the organization.

Books and learning games will be available for children between kindergarten age and 11 years old, Mrs. Holland said, adding that parents might find this fair an excellent place to do a bit of early holiday shopping.

OTHERS THINKING about Christmas are the members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild

Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman for the guild reminds localites that the annual presentation of Boutique de Noel is slated to begin on Thursday, November 18.

As in past years, the boutique will be launched at a champagne preview at 7 p.m., on Thursday, November 18, with the sale scheduled to run for several days thereafter.

Members of the boutique committee have been working since February to ready a myriad of gorgeous holiday creations for the sale and members of the community are invited to attend. There is no admission fee, Mrs. Mangini emphasized.

It has been a busy month for guild members. Yesterday's Mary's Help Hospital Day at Serramonte, involved scores of the volunteers in a day-long salute to those who serve the hospital and the community.

Taking part in the fashion show portion of the program were models Mrs. Nancy Wolseth, Mrs. Marie Wroot, Mrs. Elaine Pope, Mrs. Jeanne Conniglio, Mrs. Claire Larsen, Mrs. Tove Eichelberger, Mrs. Ann Falconi, Mrs. Letty DeMartini, Mrs. Bernadette Price, Mrs. Mary Lawson, Mrs. Barbara Castello, Mrs. Donna Ravetti, Mrs. Barbara Cardinalli, Mrs. Rosemary McFadden, Mrs. Doris Colichidas, Mrs. Louise Dowdle, Mrs. Kay Eaton, Mrs. Angie Parenti, Mrs. Toddy Caldarola, Mrs. Carol Fuchs, Mrs. Marge Joanes, Mrs. Millie Dunow, Mrs. Elsie Tonelli, Mrs. Mary Short, Mrs. Shirley Polonsky and Mrs. Rose Johnstone. Mrs. Dan McClory was the chairman to the models.

MEMBERS OF THE Presbyterian Hospital Auxiliary held their annual meeting at Trader Vic's in San Francisco this past week.

Among the Peninsula residents who attended and heard Dr. Richard F. Leeds, M.D., speak on the Cardio-Vascular Disease Treatment Techniques being used at the medical center, were Mrs. Edith Marks, Mrs. O. C. Easter and Mrs. Murray H. Freedman.

Plans were presented for a Christmas party which will be held at the Rusty Scupper Restaurant in San Francisco on December 5. Proceeds from the party are to be pledgeto the hospital.

GUESTS AT the Selmar J. Monro's Cocktail party, honoring Alan Burrough, chairman of the board of Burrough Limited of London, were greeted by Tom Bishop wearing an authentic Beef Eaters uniform. Party-goers dined on elegant hor d'oeuvres prepared by South San Francisco's Joseph Rivas, during a delightful epilogue to British week.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Hanley, Roy Steiner, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ariani and Mr. and Mrs. Murry H. Freedman were among the San Mateo County guests.

MRS. JOYCE THOMPSON was the hostess for the Beta Sigma Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International Sorority's Halloween Masquerade party.

Mrs. Beth Chambers was co-chairman of the event, according to Mrs. Esther Hall, publicity chairman for the sorority.

Flea Market Top On P-TA Agenda

These students represent the Student Body of Westmoor High School at the executive board meetings on a regular basis.

The budget was prepared for presentation at the next P-TA meeting and "Back to School Night" will be held November 18.

The most urgent business discussed was the upcoming annual "Flea Market," November 21, in the school cafeteria from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Ways and Means Chairman Laraine Thompson explained that this event is jointly sponsored by the Student Body and the P-TA, with both groups sharing the work and the profits.

The community is asked to put aside any donations that can be used — such as books, household items, games and clothes. Items can be stored at 78 Edgemont by calling Mrs. Thompson at 756-0313, or at 238 Del Prado by calling Mrs. Fox at 756-3174.

Student chairman is Carol Edwards. Students or parents who are interested in helping, or with items to donate, are asked to contact one of the above.

Senior Girl Scouts Talk About Summer Activities

GIRL SCOUT EXECUTIVES, from left, Mrs. Averroy Bianchi, Mrs. Melvin Jeppson, Mrs. Manuel Avila and Mrs. Robert Terry display the cake that was only part of the foods prepared to welcome the new adult members of the Girl Scout Association of Daly City, and to thank senior Girl Scouts who attended a recent meeting to discuss their summer activities. (Post Photo)

Young adults addressed the recent Girl Scout Association of Daly City, describing the national opportunities they attended as senior Girl Scouts this summer.

Miss Cathy Walters told of the Seattle-Canada trip she attended through Totem Council.

Miss Denise Lapachet spoke on "The City: Now — Tomorrow" an event in New York City and Miss Jackie Ketchum attended "The World: Ours — This Human Being: Me" at Mills College.

Mrs. Ruth Metzger spoke on the new membership campaign, showed the posters made by girls, and introduced the new membership campaign chairman.

Mrs. Everett Heagney invested new adults in a ceremony which included the candlelight presentation of the Girl Scout promise and laws. Mrs. John Calvin gave leaders a small decorative net brush. "Those days when Scouting gets to be your hand-up, you can take out the brush and spread it around," she said.

Favorite foreign foods were prepared to welcome the new adult members and thank the senior girls.

Salad Nicoise was prepared by Mrs. Al Schwarzbach; Swedish salmon pudding by Mrs. Rush Manbert; pasta pesto by Mrs. George Hidzick; dill macaroni by Mrs. Charles Coppoack; nut cups by Mrs. Everett Heagney; and the trefoil cake was baked by Mrs. Fred Stewart.

The luncheon committee prepared coffee, arranged for the place mats and sent invitations. The committee consisted of Mesdames Nadine Booth, Louise Courpet, Anne Chung, Caroline Futrell, Pat Knox, Joan Stewart and Norma Young.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. William Kennaugh, association chairman.

Decorations were provided by many troops, including a bird in driftwood by Troop 8, Mrs. John Young, leader; macrame belts and burlap totebags by Troop 2141, Mrs. William Williamson, leader; Santa Clause mouse, Troop 1410, Mrs. Leo Cunningham, leader; and recipe holders of Troop 2549, Mrs. Frank Norman, leader; as well as the display of ever-increasing proportions prepared by Mrs. Marge Calvin.

Cadettes Attend Weekend Outing

Twin Canyons Girl Scout Camp, maintained by Daly City's Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart, was the setting recently for the Daly City Girl Scout Association Cadette Camporee.

Cadettes of the ages 12-14 and grades 7-9 are old enough for a more varied camping program, according to Mrs. George Hidzick, camporee director.

Horseback riding, a hayride, tent pitching, ropecraft, compass and sketch maps as well as an all camp Scout's Own, colors and luncheon were the highlights of the weekend.

Attending were girls of Troop No. 43 with Mrs. William Ahern and Mrs. Raymond Nielson and guest Mrs. Bud Gray. Also Troop No. 173 with Mr. and Mrs. Jose Jimenez; No. 716 with troop committee members Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rainville; No. 1620 with Mrs. Robert Fernandez and Troop No. 8 with Mr. and Mrs. John Young and Mrs. Don Bandoni.

WSCS Schedule Lunch Meeting

An unusual treat is in store for those attending the 11:45 a.m. November 4 luncheon meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Millbrae United Methodist Church.

The Ladies' Luncheon League based in Mountain View will be in charge of the luncheon and program.

Many food products will be shown and 50 food door prizes will be given away.

Tickets for the luncheon will be 75 cents and may be purchased at the door. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ross Sherill (583-8617).

Proceeds from the luncheon will go to Community Contact, which exists as a helping neighbor, especially in the Millbare-San Bruno area.

It is composed of individuals representing various churches and community organizations who try to hear and answer individual needs not otherwise known: transportation, companionship, clothing, one time emergencies, and other needs.

Knowledge of these needs comes from pastors, school personnel, social workers and individuals alert to special situations. Their aim is to answer needs quietly, understandingly, lovingly.

Tom Powell

Horribly Grotesque

"That's the ugliest thing I've ever seen in my life."

The woman was in her mid-fifties, blue-gray hair piled high on her head, her torso straining at hot pink stretch pants. She nervously flicked at the stump of a cigarette and regarded me suspiciously.

We stood looking at each other for a long moment as a salty breeze drifted in from Pillar Point Harbor. She hadn't noticed me before as she leaned over the trays of chipped ice and fresh fish, selecting just the right crab for a Wednesday night Louis.

I, blessed with some local knowledge of the treasures of the Pacific, had asked for and received a recently caught "cabezone" (prounounced "cabezony" by the natives and "cabezone" by Webster's Third International.) It's a fish of indescribable succulence. But its appearance is — in a word — ghastly.

To look at a cabezone head-on is like viewing a crazed toad with murder on its mind. Its ugly head is everything, the focal point, the main attraction. A tiny tail begins the back tip of the body, which grows quickly larger and rounder until you reach the horrible head.

"What was that, ma'am?," I asked.

"That fish there," she said, "it's the ugliest thing I've ever seen. What are you gonna do with it — bury it?"

"Well," I replied kindly, "I must admit it's pretty offensive looking. But the meat, when properly prepared, is . . . is . . ." My voice trailed away as I searched for words.

"Speak up, young man," she demanded.

"Well, I guess you'll just have to try it," I began. "It isn't much good for baking because there's a lot of iodine flavor in the backbone. So I fillet it, dip the fillets in an egg beaten with milk, shake them up in a bag of sifted flour and saute them in butter until just cooked through. You can also coat with flour, then dip in the egg and coat with bread crumbs — either way."

Tom, the fish salesman, came up as I was talking and listened for a moment.

"You know," he said, "I used to put them out for sale but they were so repulsive that nobody would buy them. I think they even scared away some of the customers. Local people know how good they are and always ask for them by name — so I always keep a few fresh ones on hand behind the counter."

The woman looked at us thoughtfully, then offered:

"It's a real lesson in life, I guess. My second husband, Harry, was as grotesque a man as you'll ever see. And you know, he was the best whist player in East Lansing for many years."

Tom and I both nodded in agreement.

"My Uncle Stanley was a troll who lived under a bridge," Tom said. "But you know, he had a heart of gold and gave a lot of money to the Eisenhower Medical Center."

"My Cousin Milt was like that," I added. "His arrival used to signal the end of family reunions and he didn't smell quite right. But he had a beautiful tenor voice and he could sing 'Adeste Fidelis' until you'd want to cry."

We all became very quiet, gazing at each other in private thought. We then looked again at the hideous cabezone and found it not quite so repugnant.

Moral: Appearances can be deceiving.

FAMILY FORUM

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Here we are in the first week in November, which means it really isn't too soon to be thinking xabout ome new recipes for Christmas baking. I'll start off with a cake that is delightfully easy to make and a frosting that is heavenly. These recipes and the cookie recipe — are just a sample of the goodies in some leaflets which you may get free of charge by writing to C and H Sugar, One California Street, San Francisco, California 94106.

PARTY CAKE

1 package (two layers) white, yellow or chocolate cake mix
¼ cup powdered sugar
¼ cup salad oil
1 cup water
4 eggs

Combine the cake mix, ¼ cup each powdered sugar and oil, one cup water and four eggs in mixing bowl. Mix at low speeds 30 seconds. Beat 3 to 4 minutes at medium speed until batter is very smooth. Pour into ONE of any of these greased and floured pans. Bake in 350-degree oven, as directed:

10-inch tube pan ..... bake 50 minutes
Bundt pan ..... bake 50 minutes
13x9x2-inch pan ..... bake 45 minutes
2 layer pans (9-inch) ..... bake 30 minutes

Cool large cakes 15 minutes and cool layers 5 minutes before removing from pan to cake rack. When thoroughly cooled, glaze or frost as desired.

SOUR CREAM-CHOCOLATE FROSTING

4 cups (1 pound) unsifted powdered sugar
½ cup sour cream
2 Tablespoons soft margarine or butter
Dash salt
1 pkg. (4 oz.) German sweet chocolate, melted

Combine the four cups powdered sugar, half cup sour cream, two tablespoons margarine, salt and 4 ounces melted sweet chocolate in mixing bowl. Beat until smooth and creamy. Makes about 2 cups frosting—enough to frost top and sides of two 8-or 9-inch layers.

SPANISH SPICE BARS

¾ cup pitted prunes
¼ cup orange juice
¾ cup Dark Brown Sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup molasses
½ cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup chopped nuts
2¼ cups sifted all- purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves

Chop the three-fourths cup pitted prunes and combine with the fourth cup orange juice. Set aside. Cream together the three-fourths cup sugar, fourth cup molasses, half cup shortening and one egg until light and fluffy. Add the half cup chopped nuts, prunes and orange juice. Mix well.

Sift together the two and one-fourth cups flour, half teaspoon each soda, salt, cinnamon; fourth teaspoon nutmeg and eighth teaspoon cloves. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Chill 2 hours.

Divide dough in half. Lightly flour hands and form each section into oblong shape. Place on greased cookie sheet and pat into 14x4-inch rectangle. Bake in 400-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Cool. Frost each with about 2 tablespoons Glaze. Cut diagonally into 1-inch bars. Yield 2½ dozen.

POWDERED SUGAR GLAZE

Combine one-half cup powdered sugar with one and one-half tablespoons orange juice. Mix until smooth.

Nuptial Vows Recited

At home in San Mateo after honeymooning in Kauai are Ward Harrington and his bride, the former Gail Schoeder.

The couple was married at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church in Millbrae and received felicitations at the American Legion Hall in San Mateo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schoeder of Millbrae, and her bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Todd Huffman of Stateline, Nev.

When Gail said her vows, she was dressed in an organza gown trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her attendants were similarly dressed in mariner blue satin crepe gowns.

Mrs. Henry Carache was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Henry Venturoni of Millbrae and Rita Schoeder of Los Angeles, also sisters of the bride.

Pat Harrington of Sunnyvale stood with his brother as best man, and guests were seated by Bob Huffman of San Mateo and Todd Huffman of South Lake Tahoe, also brothers of the benedict.

The University of California and the College of San Mateo are the benedict and bride's respective alma maters.

Copley-Colwill

A honeymoon in Southern California followed the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Colwill (Janet Copley) which took place at the San Bruno home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Belle S. Copley. A reception followed at the Rodeway Inn in South San Francisco.

The bride, who was given in marriage by James Copley, is also the daughter of the late Roy E. Copley. She said her promises in a long white gown detailed with yellow bows. Her sole attendant, Myrna K. Copley, wore a long purple gown with a blue bodice.

Robert H. Hahn was best man for the benedict who is the son of Mrs. Betty L. Roberts of Oakland.

The bridegroom was graduated from Oceana High School and is now attending the College of San Mateo. He and his bride will make their first home in Milpitas.

Quivey-Mandell

Hawaii was the honeymoon destination of Dr. and Mrs. Peter John Mandell who exchanged vows at a garden wedding in Palo Alto and are now living in San Francisco.

The bride is the former Dr. Jeanne Marie Quivey. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Quivey of Millbrae who hosted a reception following the service at the Green Hills Country Club. The benedict's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Harry Mandell of Livermore.

Jeanne asked her sister Mrs. Lemuel Southern to be her matron of honor, and Dr. Susan Mandell, the bridegroom's sister, shared secondary attendants' duties with Mrs. George Fuller and Mrs. Edward Wong. Flower girls for their aunt's wedding were Barbara and Beth Southern.

Best man duties were performed by Dr. George Fuller, and ushers were Michael Quivey, Jeanne's brother, David Armstrong and Leonard Kanefsky.

The new matron earned her bachelor's degree at the University of California, and her husband was graduated from Yale University. Both are alumni of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco where she is now a resident radiologist. The benedict is currently a resident surgeon at Kaiser Hospital in Oakland.

DC Friends of Library Prepare for Book Sale

Mrs. Solly Orloff of Daly City is one of the members of the community who has been active in securing donations of used books for the Friends of the Daly City Library to be sold at their Annual Book Fair.

Books have been coming in to depositories at all of the Daly City branch libraries but more are needed for the next used book fair to be held at the Westlake Mall May 13.

As used books are received, they are assorted by category and are marked for sale by the pricing committee under chairmanship of Mrs. Alvin L. Schwarzbach.

The Annual Used Book Fair not only acts as a form of recycling of used books but proceeds are used each year to purchase special equipment for the Daly City library system.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Traditional black gowns, pomp and circumstance, band-music and nostalgic speeches are what every high school student can look forward to at the end of his senior year.

It is this traditional graduation that is "exploited" and widely publicized by local publications and honored by the proud parents and general public.

But no one seems to remember or even acknowledge, the usually large amount of mid-term graduates who quietly sign out of their classes and end their high school careers in February.

This year, a special graduation ceremony for mid-term graduates will be offered for the first time at Terra Nova.

The idea for this was brought up at the first senior meeting by TN principal Tom Panagoulias and was later put to an actual vote at a meeting for all seniors who were eligible to graduate mid-term.

The meeting was called by Mr. Panagoulias to determine the student participation if the special ceremony were held, and to see to what extent of formality the mid-term graduates would want the ceremony to have.

Thirty students said that they would participate in the mid-year ceremony, and the attending seniors voted to have black and white caps and gowns for the mid-year grads, as well as to make arrangements to have the school band perform, and to have a reception following the ceremony. A date was set to hold the commencement and post commencement reception on Feb. 3, 1972 at 7:30 p.m.

"Mr. Pan" explained that the basic reason for the special mid-year ceremony is to honor graduates who don't usually get recognition for completing their four years of high school.

He said he feels badly for the kids who just check out and leave school early without even a goodbye from the administration.

"It's a very cold, impersonal routine," he says.

He had seen a mid-year graduation ceremony executed with great success at Westmoor High School, and has wanted to carry out a similar program at Terra Nova for some time.

"Mr. Pan" said he believes that, with the reduction from 220 to 210 units a student needs to graduate, the number of mid-term graduates will increase.

This year's mid-term graduation ceremony probably will set a precedent for future mid-term graduation ceremonies at TN.

Some trustees are expected to be present at the ceremony. The principal said he will ask the yearbook staff to devote a section in the yearbook to pictures of the event.

The student reaction concerning the ceremony was favorable, especially among those seniors who would be participating in it.

Although this ceremony was not mandatory, and the mid-term graduates were given the alternative of coming back and graduating with their class in June, many students who will be working would not have been able to participate in the numerous graduation practices required for the June commencement.

The mid-term graduates are invited to participate in all of the usual senior activities, including the senior snow trip, senior Disneyland trip, senior all night party, and the Senior Ball.

CALENDAR ORDERS

All area Girl Scout leaders are urged to get their calendar orders into Mrs. Gloria Tapella as soon as possible in preparation for the annual sale, scheduled for November 5 thru 20 in the Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco area.

Easy-To-Read Dates On Safeway Foods Assure Freshness For You!

OPEN-DATING GIVES YOU AN EXTRA ASSURANCE OF FRESHNESS! . . . Perishable foods (such as meat, eggs, dairy and bakery foods) sell so fast at Safeway, they are on and off our shelves in a matter of hours. Still, we take no chances with freshness. Perishables which are manufactured or processed by Safeway carry dates to guide our store people. Being positive that no package remains on the shelf after printed date, assures you that these Safeway foods will remain fresh and good for many more days with proper home refrigeration. Just another reason why we say "Discount With A Difference" at Safeway.

THE SHADOW KNOWS what the subject of David Rowe's Daly City Rotary Club topic will be when he speaks to some of the city's top businessmen today at noon. In a nutshell, it will be the biggest project the north county — and perhaps the entire county — has ever undertaken: the redevelopment of all areas east of the Junipero Serra Freeway. Well, maybe not ALL areas, but certainly most of them. First, the city council will set up a complete development agency, then start attracting builders, etc., etc. Where will it all end? Will it be good or bad for the city? Listen in for future stories on the subject.

AND SPEAKING of Daly City. A statement issued by Mrs. Betty Higgins, of the Citizens for Responsible Government, that officials there intend to take up the subject of San Bruno Mountain development at their November 15 study session is news to city manager David Rowe.

DON'T FORGET the Daly City Host Lions Club visit of the "Sightmobile" at Market and Mission streets (1-6 p.m.) on Friday, Nov. 12, and at the Westlake Shopping Center Mall (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) on Saturday, Nov. 13. It's free and could save something more precious than gold — your eyes.

ON THAT SUPERIOR COURT appointment to replace Al Rousse: Scratch Muni Judge Marcel Biscay as leading contender and write in Muni Judge Frank Piombo or Walt Capaccioli. And if Walt makes it, remember these two names: SSF attorney Al Haverty or SB attorney Xenophone Tregusus. (The latter is a former law partner of Capaccioli.) Central district if Piombo gets the higher post will be Harold Wood. NOW MARK MY WORDS — NO WOMAN!

SOME NICE FOLKS trying to start rumors that County Recorder Marvin Church was looking the other way while some traffic fines were being allegedly lifted in the clerk's office is not only false, it's a crummy attempt to dig a nice guy, many folks in the North End are muttering. Anyhow, the Grand Jury has completely ended those rumors by issuing a release clarifying the act that their investigatcon clears Church not only of any wrongdoing, but also any knowledge or responsibility in the matter.

ON THE OTHER HAND — Our Source in government law matters informs there is no law against nepotism in city government. Ready for that? In other words any elected official — such as a mayor — may appoint his son (as an example) the chief of police. Failing that, he can appoint his offspring at least to the "acting COP" post, it would seem.

THOUGHT WE SAW everything until Sunday night when the witches were out witching. There they were, about 10 young hoods (ages about 12-15) beating up on two little costumed "treaters" and stealing their candy. We mighta tipped over a few garbage cans when we were kids, but I can't remember ever stealing from other neighborhood shakedown artists.

WENT TO YOSEMITE over the past weekend. The park was magnificent with its expression of autumn colors. Happy to report the new propane-powered minibuses are answering the needs of the smog problem potential in the valley. The one-way road system is also good and the cut down of camp sites is better for everyone. Eventually the park hopes to have off-park parking and a complete bus system throughout the outdoor wonderland. A few local cities might learn a lesson from this.

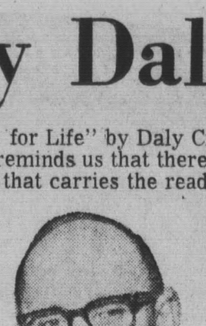
Book by Daly City Rabbi

A new book, "Inscribe Us for Life" by Daly City resident Rabbi Herbert Morris, reminds us that there is a poetry in the Old Testament that carries the reader over the laws and through the pronouncements of the prophets. It is a poetry that takes many forms: from exalted hymns to rolling lamentations to light songs. For the most part the poems are directed towards a God who figured in the lives of people, Israel.



SAMUEL CHANDLER

He was a God who set Moses up on Mount Sinai to shout:

"Hear, O Israel: The lord our God is one.
And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart,
Let there not be any touch of self-pity that would my heart be acceptable in Thy sight,

He was a God Who could incline His ear to the tender testimony of Hannah, a simple housewife who prayed for a son:

"My heart glorieth in the Lord;
My strength is increased through my God;
My heart exulteth over my foes
Because I rejoice in Thy salvation."

He was a god of promise. Thus Malachi cried, "And He shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers."

He was a powerful God Who fought for His people against their enemies, Who could cause a strong wind or an earthquake by merely passing by. He was a resourceful God, sometimes thundering through the forces of nature, other times whispering through the voices of prophets. He was a God Who humbled proud kings and subdued the gods of other people.

No wonder King David declared in admiration,
"Praise ye the Lord!
Praise ye the Lord from the heavens!"

And no wonder the modern poet echoes the words of David:

Blessed are You, O Lord,
And praised is Your creation."

Written as a Rosh Hashanah Prayer Book, Rabbi Morris' "Inscribe Us for Life" reminds us that the God of Israel is not dead but lives to play as great a part as ever in the lives of the people who call upon Him as did the Israelties of old.

Thus are repeated the ancient words:

"Hear, O Israel:
The Lord our God
The Lord is one.

Blessed be the name of His glorious kingdom for every and ever."

Throughout the book there are original prayers, meditations, and explanations. For example:

". . . Let me heal with my words, Lord.
May no deceit or half truth be found on my lips.
That I may reach out with tenderness and compassion,
Let there be forgiveness in my soul.
Let there not be any touch of self-pity that would tarnish the image in which I am created.
May the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in Thy sight,
O Lord, my rock and my redeemer.
Amen."

Rabbi Morris presents each selection in both Hebew and English and accompanies his text with brown-tone photographs that blend into the poetry and accentuate it. While "Inscribe Us for Life" is a book for worship and meditation, it is a book that acquaints us with a God Who has out-lasted the gods of Egypt and Greece; Who has emerged from the narrow land of Israel to be the God of Judaism and Christianity as well as the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

I was slurping, loudly, the last tasty chop of a thick chocolate milk shake when the number one Weight Watcher in northern California caught me in full enjoyment.

"Sorry," I said, patting a slightly bulging, satisfied stomach.

"It doesn't bother me," replied Mrs. Marcy Hyman. She smiled like she meant it, and she bubbled.

That was about three weeks ago. She had the same exuberance, and the smile, last week when I met her at a regular (but open to the public under a special deal) Weight Watcher meeting at Sears-Tanoforan.

Weight Watchers, briefly, is an organization which holds meetings all over the world to help fat men and women lose weight.

Marcy, who lost weight as a Weight Watcher back east, is the northern California director; her husband, Seymour, works the business side . . . and their daughter also is involved.

Marcy has gone from "client" to lecturer to director here in about seven years' time.

Marcy said she took to Weight Watchers when seams of her clothing began to burst at a New Year's party.

"You have to have a sense of humor," she said.

She does and can rattle off one funny story (nearly all related to WW) after another.

"What is your favorite food?" Marcy asked.

"Chocolate layer cake " she quickly responded.

Naturally, she can't eat it, and, (come to think about it, if I'd given up chocolate layer cake, or any other sweet) for ANY period of time I'd have developed a sense of humor, too.

Or shot myself

HER FAVORITE "legal" sweet is cantaloupe, which offers only limited joy because it's seasonal fare.

"Can't you imagine how many months of the year I suffer," she declared.

There is no big secret about losing weight, she said. It's simply a matter of having the proper combination of the right foods in the proper amounts.

The biggest single complaint Marcy and the other lecturers in sessions receive throughout the area — South City, San Bruno, Daly City-Colma" etc — is "too much food."

"WHAT IS THE favorite Weight Watcher dish?" we asked.

Marcy replied, "The Weight Watcher milk shake."

That consists of one-third of a cup of powdered milk, the same amount of water, some vanilla, sugar substitute and whatever flavored extract or fruit you want and about five ice cubes, whizzed at high speed in a blender . . .

She won't say — no one must — how much she once weighed.

"We're all liars anyway," she smiled.

I saw women's heads nodding in agreement.

And there was a chuckled concurrence when Marcy espoused a saying:

"I've never seen so many people happy, suffering."

Kim Christina Hobson, 19, a former high school class president who will vie for the Miss U.S.A. title in the Miss Universe Pageant in San Juan, Puerto Rico, next May, is quietly busy these days modeling, working, and attending the College of San Mateo.

She's also cooking the meals for her father at home in San Bruno, and making side trips around the state where she appears in various ceremonies as the reigning Miss California in the Miss Universe contest.

A good student, Kim sings in the choir at CSM and appears from time to time in dramatic productions there. She is unobtrusive about the campus, wandering to classes in blue jeans much as thousands of co-eds do, and concentrating on her studies.

Kim believes in the work ethic. She began working at 15, in an office, and then for two years put in a majority of her nonclass time as a physical therapist. She works today in the college music department.

She also continues to maintain a part-time relationship with the San Bruno Physical Therapy Center. This has involved work in several convalescent hospitals, particularly with the aged, where she has given massage and exercise for stroke victims and others needful of care.

At Crestmoor High, where she was freshman class president, she developed a strong interest in cooking and sewing. She maintains this at home with delicacies served up for her dad, such as lasagna.

Kim, a green-eyed brownette, and a statuesque five feet, eight inches, with 36-24-36 proportions, admits that she feels she has a chance at the coveted Miss U.S.A. title.

But it doesn't bother her. She has come out of the shyness that characterized her a year ago, when she was defeated for the Miss San Mateo County title by Susan Damante, who went on to first runner-up position in the state's Miss America Pageant preliminary

State appearances and dramatic roles have changed all that says Kim, and the "dark horse" days are over. Today, she is poised, confident, self-assured and alert. But she remains modest and friendly.

Her success has also decided Kim on a dramatic career. She is putting much of her time into dramatic studies and plans to continue her education in this line. Still conservative, however, she plans to pick up a teaching credential "just in case."

This will be for elementary and younger schoolchildren, who she finds "the most interesting."

Kim is an assistant freshman student counselor at the college, and has been a counselor for fifth grade children in a civic outdoor program.

Kim, born in Bakersfield, and a resident of San Mateo County since she was a year old, attended local schools and Crestmoor High School.

A spoiled kittenish seductress and a benevolent balding emperor brought that enchanting and fashionable pasttime called theater-going back with enormous style and a sense of gaiety when American Conservatory Theater opened its sixth season at the Geary Theater Saturday night.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" being only spokesmen for George Bernard Shaw's incomparable wit took the actions out of William Ball's mouth and turned the stage into a political playground for the romp of the year. Barring a little bloodshed here and there, the production served as a Halloween revelry for laughter, that was well earned and easily won.

With a magician's eye for clever casting (it didn't seem right when I first heard it announced but five minutes into the play and it fell into perfect place), Ball whittled away at windy Shaw, sacrificing none of the fun but much of the historical and policitical exposition.

And through the lighthearted interpretation of Peter Donat as the benign but powerful Julius Caesar and the musical incantations of Lee McCain as a petulant, willful child-Queen Cleopatra, Geary Street became the Nile, and a captivatet audience was privy to a stormy love affair that may not have traced the exact contours of history but certainly shaped an enjoyable evening.

Ann Roth's costumes are sexy and flattering. The Roman soldiers in their battle armor are more tasteful in salmon togas than the garish USC marching band who led the troops Saturday at the Berkeley football stadium. And the Queen's handmaidens in their see-thru silk shifts might have induced a vice squad raid in earlier days.

An extended putty nose on Donat, his bald pate fringed with white hair suits the image of the teasing Queen's jibes and the photo of the historical Caesar. She is at first terrified of the conquering general who marches upon her city and instead of "eating up the Egyptians," makes friends of them. He settles her upon her rightful throne, advises and teaches her how to be kindly and decisive, promises to send her a healthy, younger suitor in Marc Anthony and departs for a few final battles.

Donat draws a portrait of a wise ruler, neither pompous nor greedy. He is compassionate but, no longer virile despite his plunge into the sea to save his soldiers when they are cut off from their ships (history has him fathering a son by Cleopatra). Shaw has us believing their love affair was platonic, something of a father-daughter image where any moment the prankish little nymphet might get spanked. Yet by the end of two (there is only one intermission), the 16-year-old child-Queen has matured into a regal, more temperate and less head strong matriarch.

Veteran ACT Actor Paul Shenar returns to the company with longer hair, toned muscles and a winning smile to play the Sicillian artisan, the catalyst who engineers the rug wrapping trick to get the lithe Queen to the frustrated Emperor stuck out at the lighthouse. His costume was shades of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in his swashbuckling days but Shenar dispatched the role with verve and good humour.

E. Kerringan Prescott plays Rufio, Caesar's general with a relaxed contemporary air, showing the devoted soldier as a forthright man not afraid to criticize authority.

William Patterson only has to read his lines straight to savor the satire Shaw intended for the Englishman spouting platitudes that mock the stuffiness of his race.

No mention of the late beloved Actor Michael O'Sullivan was made but his presence was felt in the character of Ftatateeta, the female role he was to play before his untimely death several months ago. M. Singer gave the Mistress of the Queen's household a flair but despite its campy overtones, didn't breathe any magic into it. Ornately costumed in what appeared Grand Rabuki Inquisitor, the interpretation tends to overwhelm rather than blend into the scheme of things.

From dawn casting shadows upon an enormous sphinx in act one to the grandiouse spectacle of Caesar gliding off into the sunset aboard a billowed sailboat at the finale, the comedy is tailored for merriment.

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

On Monday evening, October 25, America had a rendezvous with history. Just as December 7, 1941 marked culmination of years of pressures, October 25 will be remembered as a turning point of our national course.

Pearl Harbor may or may not have been a surprise to students of world politics — this will always remain an open question. But October 25 should have surprised no one. The fact that events moved so rapidly brings momentary shock, but what happened was going to happen sooner or later in any event.

The immediate issue was China and the conflicting claims of Peking and its 750 million people, and the charter membership held by Nationalist China and the ghost government of Chiang Kai-shek. The instant question was less than ideal, but formed the white hot central point in the continuing struggle concerning U.S. world leadership.

The resolution of the China question was cold, mean and unquestionably an American debacle. The final vote said three things: Peking in, Taiwan out and America down. Again, none of these results should have surprised us, and only one of them (Peking in) need be considered a lasting condition.

The United Nations never was the silly putty of the United States. From the beginning we had to share power, and from the beginning ours has been a somewhat difficult course.

The United Nations serves a function as a meeting place and international forum. So long as we do not think it is something greater than it is, membership can be useful. We should not overlook its structural defects.

— It is made of governments, not the representatives of people.

— Most of these governments, including those of both the Communist and the "Free" world are not democratic at all, but are authoritarian in nature.

— In the General Assembly, voting power has no relationship to population or other standard. Albania, with two million people, has a vote, and, as we have discovered, a voice. The U.S. with 200 million people (and 35 per cent of the budget) has a vote. Russia has three votes.

— As part of a deal made at Yalta, five nations on the Security Council will have a veto. How interesting that one of these will be Peking.

Our U.N. relations have been further clouded by our ambivalent practice in purchasing friendship. We seem to be willing enough buyers, but lack the honesty to openly pin down what we think we are getting.

It appears to be reliably "rumored" that several nations breached commitments to support our "important question" resolution. Some were to have supported us and then abstained. Included in this group were Tunisia, to whom we have given almost 700 million dollars of foreign assistance since 1946, Cyprus with 22 million, Belgium with more than a billion and a half, Senegal at 40 million and Turkey at five and a half billion. Two members are reported as having pledged abstentations, and instead voted against us. These were Ecuador which received 300 million, and Trinidad and Tobago at about 50 million.

The events of Monday night, October 25, 1971 should impress us all with certain apparent truths.

1. Chiang Kai-shek and the Formosa government will never be a force on the Asian continent.

2. The U.N. is a great place to meet, to debate and to exchange views. It is not a place of government, and no thinking nation should surrender sovereigthy to its dictates.

3. We can't buy friends.

4. Peoples can and should be friendly with one another, but nations have no friends.

The next important moves will occur within the U.S. We should act carefully and avoid overreaction. Elimination of all foreign assistance seems unwise. Authorizations and appropriations should be tested on an individual basis and the standard for aid should be the national interest of the U.S.

It may also be proper to reduce our financial commitment in support of the U.N. But proposals to abandon membership seem foolish. We should continue as a participant in the international dialogue conducted at the U.N., and will certainly want to take part in the useful work done by many of the U.N. subsidiary organizations. Those who propose flight should remember Russia's walk out and her loss of veto rights at the time of the Korean conflict. We had better stay around to protect our own interests and to remain a force in world affairs.

Our Viewpoint

'Walk Before You Run!'

It has long been an editorial position of The Post that concepts of Bay Area regional government should be approached on a "walk before you run" basis. Likewise, we have held that the best method of pre-testing the utility, implementation and probable success of a regional agency would be the creation of a regional airport authority. The factors of practicability, sufficient lead time, and ultimate necessity dictated this choice.

New support for this position is adduced by a voluminous, "in-depth" report on the economic and spatial impact of locations and siting for the area's airports and air traffic. This report has been prepared by the University of California Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering as a part of an airport systems study for the Association of Bay Area Governments.

What the report shows most clearly is present uncertainty as to any single "best site" for a super-major airport for the overall Bay Area.

Eleven possibilities were reviewed including the three largest civilian airports in the area, San Francisco International, Oakland and San Jose, and the potentials of Travis Air Force Base were spotlighted although there is no present indication that the Air Force might yield this location to civilian need. The study also takes an overview of the possibility of developing two or more major airports at Hollister, Livermore, Richmond, Napa and Santa Rosa.

Of particular interest to San Mateo County is the finding that, no matter where major airport growth in the area occurs between now and 1980, little growth is to be expected at San Francisco Airport. The assumption is that this largest of the existing airports is already operating near capacity. Evidently this does not take into account what remains to be achieved in the current expansion program at that airport — most of which will be complete long before 1980.

Time-wise, the report also suggests that between 1980 and 1985 the bay area will need all of it existing airport capacity, and more.

The most revealing and, perhaps, most useful finding is that of the potentiality of the use of Travis Air Force Base for civilian purposes and a forecast of what this would mean economically to predominantly agricultural Solano County.

The entire report will justify careful study and it points unmistakably to the necessity for a regional airport authority within the lead time between now and an air traffic saturation point to be reached in 1985. It also suggests that the aggregate problems presented are sufficient to need a regional agency directed to this need alone and not fractionated by the political and diverse considerations involved in a catch-all type of regional government, although a regional airport authority could provide a perfect pilot study for an index to the practicality of other single or compound regional agencies.

Pacifica Land Annex Approved

Overruling the recommendation of its executive officer, the County Local Agency Formation Commission voted 3 to 2 Wednesday to approve the proposed annexation to Pacifica of 103 acres of land situated southeast of San Pedro Terrace.

E. Sherman Coffman, LAFOC's executive director, had recommended that the annexation be denied because of anticipated financial problems accruing to not only the city, but to the Laguna Salada Union School District.

Consensus of the LAFCO majority was that it is the duty of the commission to decide on the sphere of influence for annexations and to let the tntities involved work out the details of resulting use of annexed land.

Commissioner William Lawson stated at the beginning of the hearing that he has "misgivings on the way staff investigations make judgments that are not our concern."

Theodore Tronoff, spokesman for TEMCO Associates, Daly City, which is seeking the annexation for an eventual apartment development of some 3024 units, said that his firm is "only asking to go to the city of Pacifica and work with those people under the jurisdiction of the city of Pacifica."

Coffman reported in his recommendation that the developer had failed to submit specific plans to Pacifica, as requested at a prior LAFCO meeting. He also contended that the additional police and fire protection needed when the area is developed would exceed estimates given by the developer.

The executive officer commented that LAFCO is seeing for the first time in a long period the proposal for a "significant development of raw land," rather than annexation of property usually already urbanized.

Referring to Coffman's extensive report on possible financial implications of the annexation and subsequent development, LAFCO Chairman Maurice Hamilton commented that, "We've gotten off on the wrong road. We have an in-depth financial study, and little else. I'm wary of getting into a specific plan, but we're being forced into it."

Attorney Thomas M. Jenkins, appearing on behalf of the North Coast County Water District, which also would be annexing the property, said the district's only requirement is that any development "pay its own way."

He added, however, as a member of the San Carlos city council, that his city would not want to be bound by extended hearings concerning development before LAFCO. He said that San Carlos would require development hearings after annexation.

Commissioners Jean Fassler and Emory Morris voted against the annexation to Pacifica, contending that not enough specific information had been supplied by TEMCO.

However, the vote on annexation to the water district was unanimous.

The commission's action is a prerequisite to formal annexation proceedings before the Pacifica City Council and the water district's board of directors.

Rats, Bike Routes Studied in Bruno

Rats, bike routes and food stamps represented part of the range of city council problems Wednesday night in San Bruno.

Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen warned that an epidemic of roof rats was imminent in three San Bruno neighborhoods near City Park; Parkview Terrace, El Crystal and part of Huntington Park, some three hundred homes altogether.

Councilmen agreed to make rat poison available at the firehouse for all homeowners involved — seven days a week.

"I will deliver it myself to those who can't come to the firehouse," he promised one member of the audience who complained that some homeowners work during days and go away on weekends.

City Clerk Carl Hultberg notified the council that the city was being sued for $225,000 by Michael McAsey, acting on behalf of 9-year-old Dawn McAsey who fell down a 25 to 30-foot cliff near Karl Avenue and Glenview Drive last summer and is permanently disabled. Atty. John Long alleged that the city was negligent in permitting a 25-foot rope to remain tied to a tree overlooking the cliff.

Councilman Neil Christal said he would like to air the entire program before considering an application for state and federal grants to set up a Traffic Safety Department at a $68,000 cost.

Van Dusen proposed the one-year program on the basis that normal police department attrition would permit them to absorb the men hired under the program.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton said he was wary of federal programs which "cause us to employ people whom we cannot retain when the money runs out."

Councilmen discussed the fate of the bicycle route sign program, wth an expected $3,600 thought to be available, not being useable for the program. Hamilton opposed taking the money from reserve funds since with insurance rates being so uncertain, all the reserve was needed. Councilman Tony Governale asked that the program be held in abeyance in hopes of a windfall.

S.S.F. Driver Is Injured

A South San Francisco woman was said in satisfactory condidition in the Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, after being injured in a three-car accident Thursday in South San Francisco.

Betty J. Henwood, 44, of 623 Mayfair Avenue, was in one of two vehicles struck from behind at a signal at El Camino Real and Camaritas Avenue at about 5 p.m. She is being treated for extensive bruises, hospital authorities said.

The driver of the other car, William R. Cazatt, 46, of 1505 Los Montes, Burlingame, told police he would visit his own doctor concerning a shoulder pain.

Millbrae OK's Burger Stand, Condominium

Hamburger stands and condominium apartments high on a hill, won approval last week of the Millbrae Planning Commission.

After two hours of public hearing, the commissioners approved use of Earl Wilms' land at Broadway and Center streets, for a McDonald's 'burger shop,' and a Goodyear tire store.

Some public opposition remained, mostly from people connected with neighboring St. Dunstan's Church. These decried the approval of an eating place and tire shop, as creating a new source of dangerous traffic and an attractive nuisance for their children.

Planners did not give formal approval, merely indicated by voice comment that they had no objections to the use.

Returning to them for consideration in two weeks, will be questions of architecture, landscaping and signs.

Commissioners said the proposal was a "vast improvement" over an earlier plan for the same uses business on the same property.

Residents, however, complained "we don't need another hangout near two schools," and "we don't need another place to eat or another place to sell tires."

Commission Chairman Joseph Galante responded by saying that the question of a property owner's rights and freedoms, was involved.

"This is basic, really, this is the freedom that we enjoy. If we don't have the right to express it, then someone will be dictating to us where we can go and what we can do."

The commission was equally reluctant to grant quick approval of a condominium plan presented by Alpha Lands Company for three condominium apartment buildings to be constructed on a hilltop along Vallejo Drive.

After arguing points ranging from landscaping to grading to air rights, they approved the plan on a 4-1 vote with 19 separate conditions added to the approval.

Later, Commissioner Robert Treseler changed his vote, making the ballot 3-2 against.

Millbrae Barn Destroyed

An old and empty barn dating from the days when there were cows in Millbrae, burned to the ground early on Monday as the Halloween weekend drew to an end.

Firemen were called in from both Burlingame and San Bruno, to aid Millbrae firefighters in battling the blaze at Ashton and Millbrae avenues, just before 2 a.m.

Millbrae firemen say they do not know the cause of the blaze, which razed the old barn building.

The barn was located south west of the Ashton and Millbrae Avenue intersection, behind a screening of trees and brush.

At about the same time, Millbrae firemen were called to douse a grass fire in the Millbrae Creek area, and another fire which destroyed an abandoned car.

Fire inspectors are investigating the cause of all three blazes.

There was no estimate of value loss in the barn fire, as the old building was not even used for storage, firemen said.

Overtime, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays to be paid in accordance with the union wage scale in effect at the time for each craft or trade.

In addition to the hourly and/or per diem wages for the crafts, classifications or types of workmen listed above, contractors shall be required to make employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes and the payment of travel and subsistence payments as required by the executed collective bargaining agreements for the particular craft, classification or type of work involved.

The working day shall be eight hours unless otherwise specified above. The per diem rate shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours in the working day. When less than the number of hours constituting the working day, as herein stated, is worked, the wage to be paid shall be the hourly rate multiplied by the number of hours actually worked.

All skilled labor not listed above that may be employed is to be paid not less than the union wage scale for such labor and in no event to be paid less than Five and 185/100 dollars ($5.185) per hour.

It shall be mandatory upon the contactor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon any subcontactor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Properly indentured apprentices may be employed upon this work in accordance with the state law. Such apprentices shall be properly indentured as called for by law and shall be paid not less than the standard wage paid to apprentices under the regulations of the craft or trade at which they are employed. An apprentice shall be employed only at the work of the craft or trade to which he is indentured. Only apprentices, as defined in Section 3077, who are in training under apprenticeship standards and written apprentice agreements under Chapter 4 (commencing at Section 3070), Division 3, of the Labor Code, are eligible to be employed on public works, and their employment and training shall be in accordance with the provisions of such apprenticeship standards and apprentice agreements under which they are training.

Attention is directed to the provisions in Sections 1777.5 and 1777.6 of the Labor Code concerning the employment of apprentices by the contractor or any subcontractor under him.

Section 1777.5 requires the contractor or subcontractor employing tradesmen in any apprenticeable occupation to apply to the joint apprenticeship committee nearest the site of the public works project and which administers the apprenticeship program in that trade for a certificate of approval. The certificate will also fix the number of apprentices or the ratio of apprentices to journeymen that will be used in the performance of the contract. The ratio of apprentices to journeymen in such cases shall not be less than one to five except:

A. When unemployment in the area of coverage by the joint apprenticeship committee has exceeded an average of 15 per cent in the 90 days prior to the request for certificate, or

B. When the number of apprentices in training in the area exceeds a ratio of one to five, or

C. When the trade can show that it is replacing at least 1/30 of its membership through apprenticeship training on an annual basis state-wide or locally, or

D. When assignment of an apprentice to any work performed under a public works contract would create a condition which would jeopardize his life or the life, safety, or property of fellow employees or the public at large, or when the specific task to which the apprentice is to be assigned is of such a nature that training cannot be provided by a journeyman, or

E. When the contractor provides evidence that he employs registered apprentices on all of his contracts on an annual average of not less than one apprentice to eight journeymen.

The contractor is required to make contributions to funds established for the administration of apprenticeship programs if he employs registered apprentices or journeymen in any apprenticeable trade on such contracts and if other contractors on the public works site are making such contributions.

Information relative to apprenticeship standards, wage schedules, and other requirements may be obtained from the Director of Industrial Relations, ex officio the Administrator of Apprenticeship, San Francisco, California, or from the Division of Apprenticeship Standards and its branch offices.

The Contractor and any subcontractor under him shall comply with the requirements of Sections 1777.5 and 1777.6 in the employment of apprentices.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or any or all items or alternates or propositions of such bids. The contract will be awarded to the bidder whose bid is lowest on the Base Bid and Alternate or Alternates accepted by the Board.

By order of said Board, October 12, 1971.

Brighter Colors Clue to Upswing

As modern tastes in fashions and home furnishings move toward richer colors and brighter tones, exterior color choices of customers of the Cadillac automobile appear to be moving in the same direction.

Over the past decade Cadillac color preferences have shifted from the traditional whites and lacks to the more colorful ues, greens and golds. During the 1971 model year, Casablanca Yellow was Cadillac's most popular color.

White had been the favorite Cadillac color throughout the 1960s until it was supplanted as the most popular color by gold in 1969. Black had been Cadillac's second most popular color throughout the early '60s until 1965 when a light blue took second place in popularity. In 1960 white was easily the most popular Cadillac color and black was second. By 1970 white was third and black had dropped to seventh.

The increasingly popular firemist colors — with extra sparkling metallic content — have shown a strong gain in popularity since their introduction in 1964. Firemist colors were chosen on 3 per cent of Cadillacs in 1964 and better than 17 per cent in 1971. Gold, blue and green have emerged as the most popular firemist colors on Cadillacs.

Although Cadillac has traditionally offered 31 colors to its customers each year, practically any color of the spectrum can be special ordered. For example, companies order cars in their own traidional colors. An individual can even order a pink limousine if he chooses. Many of the special order colors are ones that Cadillac has offered in the past.

Choosing names for colors is a process handled by Cadillac stylists at the General Motors Technical Center and key management personnel at the Cadillac plant.

In picking names for Cadillac colors a note of elegance and sophistication is generally sought as in Dcuhess Gold or Empire Maroon.

Descriptive words that clearly depict the color such as Desert Beige or Pewter are desirable. Historical and resort areas provide descriptive aides as in Brittany Blue or Sausalito Green. Words with romantic connotation are popular as in Starlight Silver, Wysteria or Somerset Blue.

Cadillacs Resistant To Impact

The 1972 Cadillacs highlight significant engineering improvements, distinctive styling refinements and an increased impact resisting bumper system, according to George R. Elges, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice president of General Motors.

In Cadillac's 70th Anniversary Year, the division will offer nine models in three series — Calais, De Ville and Fleetwood.

"The overall dimensions of the new Cadillacs are basically the same as last year except for overall length which has been increased slightly to provide for added bumper protection," Elges said.

"The 1972 front bumper impact capability has been increased on all Cadillacs to withstand a five mile-an-hour car-to-car situation," he noted. Bumper bars, vertical bumper guards with rubber impact strips, mountings and reinforced frame are standard on all Cadillacs.

In addition to the improved bumpers, the 1972 Cadillacs feature a new grille and lighting arrangement, for a new front end appearance.

The traditional Cadillac cross-hatch grille has horizontal accent bars, and appears to float within the bold new molding that frames the grille.

Additional improvements have been made in the frame, body reinforcements, shock absorbers and body mounts — all finely tuned to assure a softer and quieter ride.

More efficient starting is assured on the 1972 Cadillac engines by a recalibrated choke and carburetor. Driveability has been improved by the use of a speed controlled spark in place of the transmission controlled spark advance.

All 1972 Cadillacs have a combination of the A.I.R. (Air Injection Reactor) and C.C.S. (Controlled Combustion System) to meet exhaust emission standards while maintaining the traditional engine performance and driveability.

Master Key For Colts

On the 1972 Dodge Colt, the master key operates all locks — ignition switch, door handle, and luggage compartment lid. The other key operates all locks except the trunk lid.

An antenna key is included with station wagons equipped with the optional radio. With this key the antenna can be locked in the full down position.

BIG FUEL TANK

New 1972 model Dodge light duty convention trucks offer as standard equipment a 25-gallon fuel tank — largest in the industry for a similar size truck.

THE ELEGANT FLEETWOOD Sixty Special Brougham maintains its top of the Cadillac line position in 1972. The over-all length has been increased slightly to provide for added bumper protection. The rear styling is highlighted by a refined bumper with an optional rubber impact strip across the width of the bumper bar face. The vertical tail lamps contain the stoplight, directional signal and taillight. The center pillar seam on the padded roof has been eliminated on the Brougham adding another elegant touch to this model.

CADILLAC'S refined impact resisting bumper system is shown in these photos. Protection of the front end sheet metal, lights and other components (above) has been significantly improved. Front bumper impact capability has been incresed to withstand a five-mile-an-hour car-to-car impact. In the rear of standard models (below) an optional rubber impact strip also extends the full width of the bumper bar face. Impact capability in the rear has been increased to a 3¼-mile car-to-car situation. Cadillac in 1972 will continue the use of special SAE 945. .110 inch thick alloy high strength bumper steel for most of its bumper components.

Engineering Advancements Mark Oldsmobile for 1972

Oldsmobile's restyled 1972 cars incorporate several engineering advancements, including a spring steel bumper support system designed to greatly reduce low impact collision damage.

The new system is being introduced initially as the front bumper on the 1972 Delta 88's, 98's and the Custom Cruiser station wagon.

The spring steel supports yield upon contact and spring back to their original position.

In addition, both front and rear bumpers of the 88's and 98's, and the front bumper of the Toronado are equipped with protective rubber strips for better light impact performance. Bumper guards continue optional on the 1972 Cutlasses, Delta 88's, 98's, and Custom Cruiser.

In other areas of public concern, the 1972 Oldsmobiles are being built with an even more intensive quality control system. All cars undergo hundreds of inspection checks during assembly, and are now re-inspected upon completion.

Oldsmobile engineers have more than met the increasingly stringent federal and California exhaust emission requirements. All of Oldsmobile's 1972 engines are equipped with valve rotators on both intake and exhaust valves, a feature pioneered in Oldsmobile in 1970.

In styling, all 1972 Oldsmobiles have undergone substantial front and rear improvements with specific exterior appearance changes and bright new interiors.

The number of Oldsmobile models in 1972 is reduced from 28 to 25. The Delta Custom series has been discontinued, leaving the Delta 88 and an expanded Delta Royale line of cars. The Delta Royale is produced in four models; hardtop coupe and sedan, a pillar sedan and a convertible.

The 4-4-2, formerly marketed as a separate series, is now optional in the Cutlass coupes and Cutlass Supreme convertible. The handling characteristics of the 4-4-2's suspension system and power train are now more widely available.

The Turbo Hydra-Matic 400 transmission is standard equipment in 1972 on all Oldsmobiles equipped with the 455 cubic-inch engine. A modified version of the 400 is standard on those Delta 88's and Vista Cruisers ordered with the 350 cubic-inch engine.

The Hydro-Matic 350 continues as an option on all Cutlass models. The standard engine in these cars is the 350-cubic-inch V-8. The L-6 engine has been discontinued.

TRIP ODOMETER

A convenience item that is standard equipment in all 1971 Dodge Challenger Rallye models is the trip odometer. It is included with the optional Rallye cluster on other models.

Pontiac's 32 Models Offer Everybody Something

Pontiac Motor Division's 1972 line-up features a new intermediate luxury series and a long list of engineering innovations, including a new energy-absorbing bumper for all full-size Pontiacs.

From its compact Ventura II to the top-of-the line Grand Ville, Pontiac covers the automobile market with 32 models, including 17 Pontiacs, eight LeMans intermediates, four Firebirds, two Venturas and the Grand Prix.

The new addition to the intermediate line is the Luxury LeMans. Featuring a distinctive grille, a chrome-plated front valance panel, lower body side moldings, rear wheel opening covers, a horizonatal rear deck molding and special interiors, the Luxury will be available in two and four-door hardtop models.

PONTIAC MOTOR DIVISION'S all-new Luxury LeMans features a distinctive grille, lower body side moldings, rear wheel opening covers and special interiors. The Luxury is available in two and four-door hardtop models.

The new bumper on the front of the big Pontiacs is both eye-catching and functional.

The energy absorbing system consists of two telescoping steel boxes which contain urethane positioned between the bumper and the frame of the car. Since the urethane blocks are not damaged by an impact, the bumper can be struck numerous times during the life of the car and continue to absorb energy.

This bumper will be standard on Catalina, Catalina Brougham, Bonneville, Grande Ville, Safari and Grand Safari.

In addition, the rear bumper on the regular Pontiacs has been modified in both the frame bar and the mounting brackets.

Pontiac again will offer a selection of eight engines, ranging from a 250 cubic-inch six-cylinder to a high-performance 455 HO V-8.

FIREBIRD FORMULA features a new grille protected by an energy-absorbing Endura front bumper. Pontiac Motor Division's 1972 Firebird Formula is easily recognized by its fiberglass hood with long dual air scoops. The Formula is offered as a 350, 400, and 455, depending on the engine. The Firebird lineup also includes the standard Firebird, Esprit and Trans Am.

Women Drivers 'Too Cautious'

Women drivers may have the edge when it comes to identifying potential road hazards but they react with "too much caution for their own good," according to initial results from the Pirelli Accident-Avoidance Test (PAAT) conducted by Pirelli Tire Corporation at the International Automobile Show in New York this past April.

"Results indicate women drivers can spot critical cues in a given traffic environment better than men," reports Dr. Francis C. Kenel, traffic and safety education specialist, who developed the PAAT test booklet and did the evaluation. "Not only are they more apt to accept certain factors as being there," he explains, "but in general women are more prone to pick out the details of a given situation and are more precise in giving descriptions.

"More women than men chose a 12 to 15-second visual search pattern," he continues, "a basic and important safe driving technique ascertained by results from the PAAT Visual Perception Test. Scanning the road ahead," says the safety expert, "gives the driver enough time to anticipate trouble before it happens."

In another categorry, PAAT participants drove their simulator test cars down a motion-picture roadway. The electronic, computerized testing facility was developed by the Link Division, The Singer Company.

"Their responses to braking, signalling and acceleration were better than those of the men," Dr. Kenel states, "because recognizing a potential hazard on the road is a positive path to accident avoidance.

"You would naturally assume then that women can best handle a crisis on the road," he admits, "but they most often don't. The problem is they are 'to cautious' for their own good.

"Additional evidence emphasizing their overly cautious nature," he notes, "came to light in the knowledge test. Although it was only a pen and pencil indication," he explains, "it clearly points out what action they prefer to take in a crisis situation."

Rather than chance sideswiping another car — in a situation where it was the best choice — women elected to swerve into a grove of trees off the road. In another question structured to test driver time-space judgment, women elected to drive all the way off the road when their right wheels went onto the road shoulder. The proper procedure called for slowing down and cutting the steering wheel sharply to the left and then back to the right as the car regains the pavement. "Women obviously erred in the direction of too much caution," he asserts.

"It could also be said that they have more humanistic tendencies," he concedes, "but the end result puts them in more individual danger than is necessary."

Other PAAT results, show women to be more realistic than men. About 60 per cent of the men claimed their automobiles are in excellent shape, while more than half of the women participants rated their car as poor to good. "Women were also less certain of tread depth on their tires," points out Dr. Kenel, "which could explain why many women experience 'flat tires.'

"Another interesting result," he comments, "is that while women proved to be more aware of the importance of seat belts than men, 46 per cent of them rarely used them on a daily basis and only 18 per cent realized seat belts hold you steady for better control over your vehicle."

Toyota's New Line Diversified

The Toyota line-up for 1972 offers 16 models of passenger cars, three four-wheel-drive Land Cruisers and a popular economy pickup truck.

Two all-new models are being introduced this fall: a two-door economy sedan called the Carina and a two-door hardtop in the top-of-the-line Crown series.

The 1972 Toyota Corona, Mark II and Celica have a new, more efficient, 120-cubic-inch, four-cylinder engine which operates on regular and low-lead grades of gasoline.

The front grille on the Corolla and Corona models for '72 have been restyled, and the Corona models feature restyled taillights, wheel covers and side turn-signal lights as well as the new grille.

Safe Tailgate Protects Kids

Every 1972 Chrysler Town & Country Wagon is equipped with an "Auto-Lock" Tailgate that prevents children from opening the tailgate. Anytime the ignition is on, the tailgate is automatically locked by an electromagnetic solenoid. A disconnect switch on the instrument panel enables the driver to unlock the tailgate so rear passengers can leave, even with the ignition turned on.

'G' Ride Refined by Oldsmobile

On all of the full-size 1972 Oldsmobiles, the successful "G" ride suspension system is continued, with tuning refinements to achieve even higher standards of ride, comfort and handling.

An example of a tuning change, on the Delta 88's, 98's and the Custom Cruiser, is the relocation of the righthand engine mount to correct the imbalance resulting from engine accessories not being evenly distributed about the engine centerline. The new mount location equalizes the forces transmitted through the mounts into the frame and makes the car more pleasing from the standpoint of ride smoothness and quietness.

Other mechanical improvements found on the 1972 Oldsmobiles include more fade-resistant drum brakes on the Cutlass models, the use of air outlets in the door lock pillars in

We improve with age.

We like to think of ourselves as the Chateau Lafite-Rothschild of the automotive world.

We keep getting better every year.

Since 1949, we've improved our little car over 2,200 times.

Last year we gave it a more powerful engine and nearly twice the luggage space it had before.

This year we added 29 more improvements.

We found a way to keep engine noise down.

We found a way to make it run better in cold weather.

And we found a way to make it run even smoother in cold, hot or whatever weather you have in mind.

So it goes on.

Since '49, we've made over a thousand body and chassis improvements.

Since '49, we've made over a thousand engine and transmission improvements.

And the reason for all this progress?

Since '49, we've spent absolutely no time making silly styling changes.

What you see, once again, is what you get.

Buick Emphasizes Reduced Exhaust

Buick Motor Division is introducing its 1972 line of cars featuring strong emphasis on improved bumper protection, reuced exhaut emissions and styling refinements, including a new Sun Coupe model.

All series — Riviera, Electra, Centurion, LeSabre and Skylark — have distinguishing features for 1972 including new grilles and new styling in the rear.

All 1972 Buick models offer as optional equipment bumpers that have protective rubber impact strips to prevent scuffing in minor collisions and heavier, rubber-faced bumper guards. A rigid reinforced all-steel front bumper system on LeSabre, Centurion, Estate Wagon and Electra provides additional protection for grilles, lamps, fenders and other parts of the car.

A new Sun Coupe model based on the Skylark 350 sport coupe is offered for the first time. The manually operated sun roof will also be available on a special order basis on all other intermediate hardtop coupes.

A power-operated steel sun roof will be available on the 1972 Riviera. Buick's engine programs have been targeted to achieve better control of emissions and at the same time improve overall engine operation.

The emission controls include a new integral Air Injection Reactor system (AIR) on all 455-cubic-inch engines to maintain Buick's smoothness of operation along with providing a greater margin of assurance in meeting all emission standards.

Torino, 'Bird Offer New Styling in '72

A redesigned Torino and Thunderbird, featuring major under-the-skin changes and increased interior room, highlight Ford Division's 1972 product story.

Ford Division's most changed offering in 1972 is the Torino. The intermediate features new dimensions, sheet metal and chassis in its greatest change since it was introduced as the 1962 Fairlane.

Torino features body-on-frame construction, new front and rear suspensions and separate wheelbases for two-and four-door models. The interior introduces instrument panel and standard high-back front bench seats. For added safety, front disc brakes and side impact protection are standard.

Torino will be available in nine models and three series — the Torino, Gran Torino and Gran Torino Sport. Included among the models for 1972 are three two-door hardtops, three station wagons, two four-door pillared hardtops and a Sports Roof. A unique grille will distinguish the Torino from the more luxurious Gran Torino models.

The 1972 Thunderbird, the division's other all-new car, has exterior styling changes and significantly increased interior room. Thunderbird is offered in a single two-door hardtop model.

The added interior spaciousness permitted by the 3.5 inch increase in Thunderbird's overall length is enhanced by trim and appointments that are more luxurious.

Front and rear styles are new for the 1972 Ford. All models feature egg-crate design center and site grilles with a center protection bar, and a restyled rear deck lid. The LTD series has a distrinctive grille and rear end treatment that sets it apart from the rest of the Ford line.

An electrically operated sunroof and an electric rear deck lid release are offered as options for the first time on the Ford line. Attractive rear bumper guards are standard on all LTD models except the Country Squire. Front and rear bumper guards will be availabe on all other models.

In keeping with the announced policy that Pinto would not change for several years, the 1972 Pinto sedan is virtually unchanged but features several interior improvements. Performance of the optional 2000-cc engine is upgraded and the rear springs and shock absorbers are modified for a better ride.

Maverick's original style and easy-to-repair features are retained in 1972. With more than 700,000 sales to its credit, Maverick's changes include a new insulation package for quieter ride, new color combinations and the availability of steel belted radial play tires.

DODGE COLT is hailed by its manufacturer as a "mini-price maxi-buy." The two-seat wagon (top) and two-door hardtop are among Colt's four 1972 models. The Colt has a 97.5 cubic inch overhead cam engine, reclining seats and adjustable steering column as standard equipment.

Beetles Are Better Bugs

Volkswagen's Beetle line presents a number of convenience and safety improvements for 1972, among them a larger rear window, new controls for the windshield wiper-washer and an energy-absorbing steering wheel designed to give drivers greater protection in the event of front-end impacts.

Other improvements in the bug-shaped cars for 1972 — both the Beetle and slightly-larger Super Beetle — include smoother engine warm-up after cold-weather starts, greater insulation against both road and engine noise, "parcel shelf" covers for the behind-the-rear-seat luggage wells and an automatic electronic check of the dual brake system's warning light bulb each time the ignition is switched on.

In traditional VW fashion, this year's Beetles look just about the same as all the more than 14,000,000 "bugs" built since production began late in 1945, only a few interior and exterior differences separating them from earlier models.

Most visible exterior tip-off to a '72 Beetle or Super Beetle is the engine compartment lid which now sports four groupings of horizontal air intake slots rather than only two as in the past.

Inside the engine compartment, improved engine air intake and intake manifold preheating helps reduce exhaust emissions to a new low for 1972 and makes for smoother engine warm-up after a cold-weather start.

Still another 1972 improvement shows up at filling stations where drivers may tell attendants to "fill it up with lead-free!" That change stems from a slight decrease in the air-cooled engine's compression ratio — down from 7.5 to 1, last year to a 7.3 ratio this year.

The new safety steering wheel incorporates a four-inch-long collapsible hub to help absorb "second collision" forces in the event of a front-end impact. In addition, a broad plastic section covering the steering wheel spokes spreads second-impact shock across a wide area.

Designed to hide articles carried in the behind-the-rear-seat luggage well, the new parcel shelf is hinged so that it can fold down into the well whenever necessary to permit stowage of especially tall items. In addition to its security role, the carpeted shelf also helps close out travel noises just as do additional acoustic materials on the undersides of the rear quarter panels.

As in the past, the back-rest of the rear seat folds forward to help form a nearly flat load bed for luggage or other bulky cargoes.

VOLKSWAGEN'S TOP-OF-THE-LINE 411 series, the 411 four-door and a 411 Wagon (pictured), share a number of improvements for 1972, among them energy-absorbing steering wheels and new easy-to-reach controls — stemming from the steering columns — for their windshield washer-wipers. Standard for both 411 models are computer-controlled fuel injection engines, front disc brakes and independent coil spring suspension on all four wheels.

Medium-price Market Is Emphasized by Chrysler

The 1972 Chrysler, the company's nameplate car, enters an expanding medium-priced marketplace with a new look and a number of engineering improvements.

Richard D. McLaughlin, Chrysler-Plymouth general sales manager, predicted an 11 per cent sales gain in this area for 1972, based upon the surprising sales performance of the medium-priced cars in 1971.

The Newport Royal, the new low-line version, had a good sales trend during the year, running from 4.5 per cent of sales to 25 per cent of total Chrysler car sales by Spring.

"This increased public interest evidenced in medium-priced cars and our new-look styling should combine to provide increased sales for 1972," McLaughlin said.

Marketing plans call for a concentration on two well-established names — Newport and New Yorker — while continuing the popular Town and Country station wagon. The Three Hundred model has been dropped.

The successful Newport Royal and Newport Custom are continued. A separate premium line New Yorker Brougham is added.

All Chrysler car line models are available in two and four-door hardtops and four-door sedans with the Town and Country wagon available in both two and three-seat versions.

The engine lineup for the Chrysler models features a new 400-cubic-inch engine as standard equipment in the Newport Custom and Town and Country wagon. The 440-cubic-inch V8 is shared by the New Yorker and New Yorker Brougham. The 360-cubic-inch V8 is standard in the Newport Royal.

Gas Tank Safety Cap

All 1972 Dodge Dart and Dart Demon models are equipped with a new pessure-vacuum safety gasoline filler cap. Like a radiator cap, it has safety tangs that allow the cap to be loosened to relieve pressure, but prevent the pressure from forcing it off. It prevents fuel from gushing or squirting out of the tank because of a pressure build-up in the tank or vent lines.

ROOMY AND COMFORTABLE Chrysler Newport Royal and Town & Country wagons have a fresh appearance for 1972. Wagons have three-way tailgate and automatic tailgate lock when ignition is turned on. Standard are automatic transmission, power steering and power front wheel disc brakes.

Options on Satellites

Plymouth Satellite offers two new 400 cubic inch V-8 engines for 1972: A 2-barrel and a 4-barrel. The 400 2-barrel and 4-barrel engines are optional on all Satellite models except Road Runner; the 400 4-barrel engine is standard on Road Runner.

Both V-8's are designed to give excellent perormance on low-lead, regular gasoline.

Buick Improves Transmission

For 1972 all regular size Buicks will again be equipped with Turbo Hydra-matic transmision along with variable ratio power steering and power brakes with front discs. In the LeSabre series a new Turbo-Hydramatic 375-B transmission will be used with all 350-cubic-inch engines a higher torque capability and greater cooling capacity.

All LeSabres equipped with with the 455-cubic-inch engine will continue to use the THM 400 transmission, the same as Centurion, Electra and Riviera models.

VINYL TRIM

The rear bumper of Plymouth Fufy Gran Coupe and Gran Sedan models has a vinyl applique that surrounds the taillights. The vinyl applique is available in five different body colors.

75th Diamond Jubilee Year

Mission High School of San Francisco is celebrating its 75th Diamond Jubilee Year on November 12, and you may be asking, what might that have to do with a sports column wihch is read (presumably) in Daly City Pacifica, etc. (we never were sure of the circulation area of The Post). The answer is everything.

Being an old Bear (that means Mission alumnus and nothing more), we had lost contact with many of our old friends until we moved out of the Mission District (just a couple of blocks from the old school) more than ten years ago, to settle in Daly City and work in Pacifica. Suddenly it was like one continuous old home week. All the Missionites, it seemed, had moved to the circulation area (whatever that might really be) of The Post. And since most of our friends were ex-jocks, you now have the reason why this column is relevant. There are probably more Mission alumni, including many former Bear athletes, living here than living there (THERE is San Francisco).

WE WOULD ATTEMPT to name some of them, but the result would only be "some," as our memory isn't what it used to be; and then there would be hurt feelings among those left out because there never was an introvert at Mission, especially among the athletes. They still all like the ink. So to be fair, we won't name any. And besides, any of them worth mentioning have all appeared in this column at one time or another in the past decade, anyway. A repeat appearance would only give most of them a fat head.

Now for more pertinent information:

Mission's 75th Diamond Jubilee Year will be officially kicked off on November 5 when San Francisco Mayor Joe Alioto will proclaim November 12 as Mission High School Diamond Jubilee and Alumni Day.

A contingent of Mission officials and former athletes, including Mission graduate and current principal, Ted Scourkes, Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, Giant third baseman Al Gallagher, and George Wolfman, our old coach and now the head baseball man at the Uniersity of California, will officially accept the proclamation from the mayor.

Highlight of the "Mission Day" will be a massive rally-reunion at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, followed by a reception and dance at the Furniture Mart, all for just $1 for the evening.

The rally will be co-MC'd by former Chief of Police and Mission all-city infielder Al Nelder and football great Johnny Swanson, who now gets his exercise totaling profits at his Westlake Bowl. Nelder and Swanson will review Mission's past, present and future place in the history of San Francisco (they should include Daly City, Pacifica, South City, etc.) and introduce former Mission High celebrities and past and present faculty members. There will also be entertainment by former and present Missionites.

The Diamond Jubilee Committee urges the many Mission alumni now residing on the Peninsula to attend, and would like former faculty members, student body and class presidents and yell leaders to contact Bill Mustanich, Faculty-Alumni Chairman at Mission, to help organize their old classes for seating and introductions.

Mustanich may be reached at 621-1806, ext. 24. He would especially like it if you called during school hours, because that way he gets excused from his classes to answer the phone.

All right, already, we'll go. But we're not going to engage in any of those silly yells unless we get a double lunch.

MISCELLANY: Now that baseball season and Monte Moore are over, it looks like we'll have to switch our relentless attack on local sportscasting incompetency to Barry Tompkins, the Channel 5 sports editor who is realy the granddaddy of all unknowledgables. He was meting out misinformation to the public before Oakland was even a glint in Moore's eye.

Reason why we haven't taken after Barry in the past couple of years is because he became so bad that we quit watching him. We still don't, but in the public interest, we now occasionally bribe friends with free drinks to spot-check him for us.

We will admit that this week's blunder isn't serious, but give us time to warm up. Seems Barry was discussing the recent wild expansions in football and the apparently impending one in basketball, merging the ABA with the NBA. Barry reminded one and all how the old All America Conference had merged with the National Football League, and then how the NFL and the American Football League had merged.

"Well, merging leagues is something baseball has managed to avoid so far," said Barry with that inscrutable little smile on his face.

OH? WONDER IF Barry knows that at one time there was only a National League, and then this little upstart League, which called itself the Western Association (a reorganized minor league), began in 1894, changed its name to the American League in 1900, declared war on the NL in 1901 by beginning to grab some of its talent, and finally forced a merger in 1903. Why Barry, the American Legue is still known as the "junior circuit." But then how could anyone expect an acknowledged sports expert — even if he does occasionally parachute out of airplanes — to know such a complicated thing.

But on to things we can all understand, and why is it that whenever the Los Angeles Rams use the old-fashioned tight-T formation, the sportscasters inevitably call it a "gimick" formation?

If there is anything less "gimicky" than a straight-T in the context of modern football, we wish somebody would let us know. We'll even accept an answer from Barry Tompkins, if he gives it to us without his inscrutable smile.

One important fact we didn't mention in those two columns we did on Referee Jack Downey was that Downey has never been approached with a bribe offer, or even a "suggestion" to "take it easy on our boy."

Not that such a thing in the fight business is unheard of. Downey, evidently, just has an honest face. When Willie Ritchie was California boxing commissioner, he told Downey that evidently the word had gotten out among the boys that Jack was an untouchable (there are more in the fight game than you think), and that "the boys" respect untouchables.

"What I don't understand," says Downey, "is how the word could get out on me when I have never been approached in the first place to see if I could be had."

As we said, Jack. You have an honest face.

RED GRANGE is generally conceded to have been the player who launched professional football into a profit-making organization, but what many fans don't realize is that Grange never made it big as a pro. His barnstorming drew big at first, but playing sometimes several games a week under less than comfortable conditions and with everybody laying for him — and often playing with nagging if not really serious injuries — limited Grange to only a couple of reasonably good days offensively, and the public soon lost interest in him.

Actually, Grange was much more successful as a defensive back, and hung on in the pros for several years as a solid, journeyman defensive man.

No one can deny, however, that his initial splash on the pro football scene took public attention for the first time off college football and focused it on the pros, and that might have been the crucial time that allowed George Halas and his cronies to turn the financial corner.

Falcons Crush Aragon

By DAN BERTELLOTTI

Coach John Browne's Crestmoor Falcons have a lot to look forward to in the next two weeks as they take on the MPL's prime contenders, Burlingame and San Mateo.

But the Falcons didn't look past Aragon Friday as they put 13 points up on the board the first two times they touched the ball, dumping the Dons, 27-7. Crestmoor kicked off and on the first offensive play for the Dons, a mixup in the backfield caused a fumble, which was recovered by Crestmoor's Jim Stewart. Falcon quarterback Jim Jarvis then threw a perfect 40-yard pass to Bob Scholl for the TD.

Crestmoor held the Dons on their next series, got the ball back, and wasted no time, scoring in only four plays. George Ama got the final 27 yards untouched, on a burst up the middle.

Aragon's offensive line, which has been rather porous of late, held up fairly well for Dave Matisi, who looked sharp, completing 11 out of 24 passes for 118 yards. If Aragon had posed a rushing attack, Crestmoor might have had some problems.

The Dons' only score, late in the first half, was brought about by Tom Aviles' interception of a Jarvis aerial. The Dons then started their only sustained drive of the game.

They went 44 yards in nine plays with the majority of the distance coming on passes.

The big play was a perfect peg to Aviles on the three-yard line for a 25-yard gain. Matisi then hit his favorite target, Tim Barnard, in the corner of the end zone for the score. Barnard caught seven passes for 65 yards on the evening.

The Crestmoor rushing game, despite not having Steve Roller available for duty, still looked impressive as the offensive wall opened gaping holes all night for Paul Grossman and the Ama brothers.

George was his usual quick jittery self, in the Dons' hair all evening at both running back and defensive back.

Younger brother Ed was also running well. Ed, only a junior, is definitely a Falcon to look forward to in the future.

George also did one other thing—he threw the ball, completing one out of two tosses, the completion going to Bill Goff for the score that all but iced the game at 20-7

Aragon threatened to tie in the third quarter, but the Falcons would have none of it.

The Dons held Crestmoor on their own 22-yard line and promptly put together a fine drive. Matisi alternated rushing plays well among his backs, but still had to face fourth down and three on the Falcon 43. He handed the ball to Bill Popin, who looked like he might pick up the first down, but the hole closed quickly and he was stopped for only a yard gain. Crestmoor then took over and took the ball in for a score.

Rams Win, Jeff Loses

Warriors Remain Among Unbeaten

By JERRY LITTRELL

Every team is entitled to one of those games, and the South San Francisco Warriors can be thankful that it came Friday, before the stretch run for the North Peninsula League title.

Struggling every step of the way both with their own mistakes and the repeating pistol known as Jefferson quarterback Chinto Fonseca, the Warriors upped their league-leading mark to 4-0 with a 34-20 win over the Indians in front of a disappointingly small crowd at Clifford Field.

In other NPL action on Friday, Terra Nova outlasted Half Moon Bay, 14-12; Westmoor rallied to blank Oceana, 20-0; and El Camino shut out winless Serramonte, 24-0.

Fonseca is indeed wise beyond his years. He doesn't have much of an offensive line nor any real running power to offset his passing attack. He wastes little time or effort. Going on the quickest count possible from scrimmage and often shifting into the shotgun formation, the league's most productive thrower tossed the ball 37 times for 237 yards in 18 completions. He even led the Indians to a brief 8-7 lead over the powerful Warriors early in the evening.

After tackle Lynn Simmons had picked up a blocked punt and run 23 yards to open the S.S.F. scoring, his second such scamper in two weeks, Fonseca found tight end Gary Lindsey from 23 yards out for a TD and the conversion pass to Lindsey gave Jeff a one-point margin.

But junior quarterback Rhod Wallace took things under control from there. He guided South City to two quick scores, tallying on runs of 12 and 22 yards himself, and the lead was never really threatened. Hank Love had game honors with 91 yards.

Terra Nova's Steve Garrison blasted over right tackle on a power play designed for short yardage, found himself in the clear and ran 80 yards on the first play to give Terra Nova a quick 7-0 lead over visiting half Moon Bay. The Tigers weren't to score again until the next-to-the-last play of their series, when Louie Sanchez slipped in from the seven to make it a 14-6 TNT lead.

The Cougars, meanwhile, couldn't put a passing game together. Bob Hunt powered over from the one for the first Cougar score but it took a desperation spiral covering 45 yards on an option from halfback Jeff Yerian to Tom Salet to bring the HMB eleven to within two with 28 seconds remaining in the game. The two-point, tying conversion pass attempt was batted away at the line.

Terra Nova's offense was no great thing either. In fact, the Cougars intercepted the first four passes quarterback John Racanelli threw and held the Tigers to 17 aerial yards. The line play on both sides was tremendous; the hills were alive with the sounds of leather and plastic popping.

Westmoor, held to a scoreless tie at halftime, came back with a 20-point second half to best the Sharks. Oceana could manage just one yard rushing and another six passing in a weak offensive showing. Quarterback Jim Romero was injured in the first half and sat out the game for the Sharks.

Westmoor scored on two runs by fullback Tom Price and an icing tally by halfback Nick LeBlanc. Al Abbott was the leading Ram rusher with 77 yards while Price added another 68.

El Camino took to the airways to defeat winless Serramonte as junior quarterback Rudy Castellanos threw passes covering 54 and 10 yards to end Tim Cowen and another 38-yarder to Ken Acosta. Frank Morrison added a prep rarity — a field goal — to open the first half scoring for the Colts.

Knight Win Is Good Therapy

By STEVE JOHNSON

Hillsdale was still feeling the shock of that oh-so-close 9-8 loss to Crestmoor last week, and Capuchino . . . well, Cap had nothing to lose.

In the end Hillsdale downed the visiting Mustangs 28-8, evening their MPL mark at 1-1, but the first half was near nightmare for Knight coach Ron Anderson. It was the visions he didn't see that bothered him — light blue and red clad backs scoring touchdowns.

Cap wasn't going anywhere, but neither were the Knights. Finally, 51 seconds before the first half ended, Knight quarterback Ron Doss connected with halfback Chuck Lucas for a 21-yard scoring aerial, but the game was still up in the air, as it were.

But when the Knights came out in the second half, it was obvious that they had recovered from the emotional flatness that had been plaguing them.

Mike Adams, who shifts into high gear faster than Don Garlits ever did, ran the opening kickoff all the way to the Mustang 27. Doss followed by going for the kill, hitting Scott McWhirter on a 24-yard toss to the two, and one play later hit McWhirter again for one yard and the score.

McWhirter, feeling a strong attraction for paydirt, picked off a Ken Swan pass moments later and went 17 yards for another score.

And the Knights weren't finished. Adams grabbed another errant Swan pass via a deflection off a Cap receiver, and brought it back to the 'Tang ten, setting up a one yard plunge by Steve Myers for the third TD.

Meanwhile, the Hillsdale defense was completely destroying its embattled foe, and even though Mustang Charlie Burwell did get across for a Cap score late in the game, the only difference was that it marred a shutout. Hillsdale coach Ron Anderson's rowdies spent most of the time adding a new slant to the option play — pitchout to defender who reaches quarterback before the intended ball carrier.

Anderson was pleased with the comeback; he and his staff had been worried about the aftermath of last week during this week's practice. "We came back very well from that loss, I think," he said.

Nothing Is 'Certain' In Mid-Peninsula

By CHRIS STAVE

Mills High linebacker Andy Douglas must feel a little funny. He made an outstanding defensive play at Burlingame on Friday.

Why should that make him feel funny?

Well, it was about the only defensive play made all day, even though both Mills and Burlingame defenses were supposed to be relative Gibraltars.

Draw your own conclusions: Mills won with 1:02 remaining in the game, 42-40. That's right, 42-40. And an upset to boot.

The two teams gained 897 yards between them and racked up 41 first downs. Beginning to get the idea .

The great moment for the 5-11, 185-pound Douglas came late in the fourth quarter, when Burlingame had momentarily topped the insane touchdown trading and was running out the clock.

The main Panther weapon in the stall was Andy Kolesnikow, a big, fast runner in his first appearance since an inujry in the year's first game.

Kolesnikow, who didn't come in till late, had already carried seven times for 87 yards, including touchdown bursts of 11 and 58 yards. He had just bulled over left tackle for a first down and was still running past midfield.

Suddenly Douglas, in one of those mad inspirations that come to the desperate, ran to Kolesnikow. And instead of slowing to tackle him, he ripped the football from Kolesnikow's right arm and kept right on running for 20 yards to the Burlingame 40.

Burlingame then got stuck for two of its 12 penalties for the day, which moved the ball to the Panther 14. Five plays later Viking back Ken Place scored his fifth tuchdown of the afternoon to mercifully end the scoring.

Place was one of the more incredible players in the incredible drama. He packed 28 times for 219 yards as the Mills running game ran well nigh perfectly. Vike rushers ran 53 times and got 347 yards, over six and a half at a crack.

The 6-0, 185-pound Place was also just about the only man who was able to spoil the beautiful day Burlingame quarterback Clark Anderson was having. Place got one of Mills's two interceptions to help put the Vikes on tht right side of the turnover war.

The Mills win does all kinds of interesting things to the Mid-Peninsula League standings. Mills (2-1) is a half game ahead of Burlingame (1-1) and Hillsdale (1-1). It is quiet possible that neither Crestmoor (3-0) nor San Mateo (2-0) will finish the season without a loss.

So if Burlingame can recoup and knock off Crestmoor this Friday afternoon, everyone will be in the thick of it except the two winless teams, Aragon and Capuchino.

Before Friday afternoon, it was generally assumed that the winner of the Crestmoor-Burlingame tilt would be odds-on to win the crown. Now, nothing's certain.

And the rest of the league can probably thank Andy Douglas for that.

Knights Beat 'Cats

A host is someone who is supposed to entertain guests in his own home.

But the only way a rude Hillsdale D basketball team entertained San Mateo was to mount an exhibition of fine shooting which humbled the Bearcats.

The Knights retained their Mid-Peninsula League lead Thursday by knocking off third place San Mateo rather ungraciously, 52-18.

The Bearcats were a victim of their own poor shooting, as the Knights outscored San Mateo in every quarter. Knight coach Homer Zugelder said, "This was definitely a team effort. San Mateo isn't as bad as the score indicates."

In the final D game Cap upended Crestmoor 41-38. Vince Andrini got 18 for the Mustangs.

Sierra Club Zeal Rapped By 3 D.C. Sportsmen

The powerful Sierra Club, dedicated to conservation has come under fire from three Daly City sportsmen for methods employed in "cleaning up" several forest campsites in the Modoc wilderness area last month.

Insurance man Fred Martin, mortician Tom Welch, and Ray Logan, of the Pacific Telephone Company, complained that the conservationists "went overboard" in cleaning up the campsites.

"They made a mess out of a number of campsites by tearing down small horse corrals made out of fallen trees, ripping shelves apart and throwing the wood into the sagebrush and breaking up our sheepherders' stoves," Logan said.

Logan and his companions threatened to file suit against the Klamath Falls (Oregon) branch of the Sierra Club for their actions.

The group of conservationists later carted the broken stoves and other material from the campsites into the town of Alturas where they put it on public display, claiming it was "rubbish gathered in the forests," Logan said.

"These people are in no way ecologists when they throw things into the sagebrush and break up private property," Logan said.

For the past 16 years Logan has been trudging into the back country guided by Floyd Brooks, a packer from Likely, California.

Brooks pays the government for use of some 35 campsites in the wilderness area. He agrees to maintain them and allow the public to use them.

At each campsite Brooks and Logan had installed a small sheepherder cookstove, a couple of wooden shelves tacked to trees and made horse corrals out of deadwood bound together with bailing wire.

The nearest campsite to the town of Alturas is about ten miles into the wilderness area, which is owned by the federal government.

Last month a group identifying itself as members of the Klamath Falls Sierra Club asked ranger permission to enter the area and clean up trash.

"They were given permission by the rangers," Logan relates, "but no one figured they were going to go on a spree that wiped out all but two of Floyd's campsites."

"The townspeople thought they did a great job of cleaning up the area — they didn't see what they did in that forest," Logan said.

Logan said for the past 16 years his companions have always obeyed the "rules of the back country."

"We have never started a forest fire, left our campsites in a mess, killed unnecessarily, or polluted any of the streams in the forest," Logan explained.

Will he go back and start over again?

"You can bet we will. We're damn mad at the Sierra Club but we're still in love with that beautiful country," Logan said. —Lapierre

Mets Blow Lead, Lose In Softball

Week number 2 of the Daly City Softball League saw bad news for the Mets, as they saw a 5-1 lead fizzle away and lost in the tenth inning on a throwing error.

Final score, 6-5, favor of the Chiefs.

It was 1-1 in the fourth when the Mets came up with three triples by Huey Sander, Bobm Warneke, and Bruce Korn.

In the fifth inning the Chiefs tie it up and set the stage for Charlie Bowden's infield hit to score the winning run.

At South Westlake, the Ponies, paced by Joe Skaar's defense, beat Gerammoni AC, 10-2. Terrors betrayed the AC Club.

At Colma field, the Radicals had an easy time getting by the Misfits, 8-2. Cather Frank Roblr went "2 for 3" at the plate.

SSF Horseshoe Tourney Slated For Nov. 6

The South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department will conduct an Adult Singles Horseshoe Tournament November 6.

The tournament is open to any person 18 years of age or older. Qualifying will take place early in the morning at the Orange Memorial Park horseshoe courts.

Paul Mori and Lester "Swede" Anderson will be tournament officials. Both men have acted as tournament directors in the past few years.

Registration is being taken at the administrative office of the Park and Recreation Department, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The tournament will be divided into two or more divisions and winners will receive first place trophies.

Orange Park Turfing Job Is Launched

The South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department is rebuilding turf areas at Orange Memorial Park.

The problem was highlighted when adult soccer began playing league games, leaving the field in a plowed condition.

The problem exists because continual and heavy year-round use and limited maintenance time, a department spokesman said. A heavy thatch has built up, allowing little water penetration and retention, resulting in a very "shallow-rooted" turf.

Heavy corrective work is being done by city park crews on the multi-use field, to be followed by work in the baseball and soccer fields.

Soccer game activity has been rescheduled to South San Francisco High School. Baseball activity is being restricted to Saturdays and Sundays only. The cooperation of the public in staying off of all fields under repair has been requested. The project should take from six to eight weeks.

Hunch League To Be Formed

The Pacifica Park, Beach & Recreation Department will sponsor a Hunch League on Monday nights in the Oceana gym.

The league will be divided into three divisions: "A" Division will be for adults over 25 years of age, Division "B" for adults under 25 years of age, and Division "C" for high school students.

Bobby Sox Sign-Ups Being Taken on Coast

Registration for 1972 Pacifica Bobby Sox League is now being taken.

Girls may sign up by contacting Mary Baughman (359-4635) or Carol Wren (355-6212). The Minor League is for girls from the ages of 9-11. A girl who is eight years of age is eligible to reigster if she becomes nine on or before August 31 of the current season.

The Major League is for girls from 12-15. Her birthday must be before September 1 and her 16th birthday after August 31.

A girl 15 years old is eligible if she was a registered 14 year old player last year.

Girls who played last year must re-register to play this season.

Signups also are being taken for managers, who must be female 21 or older; coaches, male or female, same ages, chaperones, female, 21 years or older; umpires, 16 years old, boys or girls; moms or dads, scorekeepers.

The Bobby Sox also announced that a board meeting will be held on first and third Tuesdays of the month at 458 Cullen Drive Pacifica at 8 p.m.

The third Tuesday is set aside for the general public, managers, coaches and chaperones, as well as parents of the girls, to discuss anything they want.

Summer Loop Play Ends In Pacifica

The 1971 late Summer Softball League came to a close, with the 2901 Club defeating Manor Barber Shop and Sun Valley Dairy twice to win the Softball Championship.

In the first game the bats of Frank Fuentes and Ben Soliata came alive to pound out three hits apiece, as the 2901 Club clipped Manor Barber 17-9.

In the second game Deway Hilton rapped three hits and teammate Frank Fuentes hit a homerun as 2901 Club took a 5-4 victory over Sun Valley Dairy.

The 2901 Club squeezed out a 10-9 win by using the middle of their line-up to pound out base hits, as Gil Clayton, Frank Fuentes and Lou Perna all had two hits apiece in the victory. Stan Taufer, Jr. and Mike Needham led the losers with 2 hits each.

Adult Cage Action On Coast Starts

The 1971 edition of the Fall Adult Basketball League, sponsored by the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department, got under way last week.

The Black Knights, Kerri's Coffee Shop and Moonraker all picked up impressive wins.

C. Clark and "coach" Mac Smith combined for 30 points, as the Black Knights cracked past Dial Glass 64-55. John Tolsen and Gay Labelle paced Dial's offense with 17 and 15 points respectively.

Kerri's Coffee Shop opened their title defense in a winning way, as they zipped past the French Club 40-34. Dave Lee was high point man for Kerri's offense with 11 points. John Galten scored 10 points in an effort for the French Club.

Sixth Annual D.C. Hill Run Nov. 20

The Daly City Department of Recreation, Park and Maintenance is conducting their sixth annual Daly City Hill Run on November 20.

Runners will start and end race in front of Colma Intermediate School on East Market Street.

The course is 6.7 miles long and is open to all A.A.U. registered long distance runners.

The race will start at 10 a.m. with post registration beginning at 8 a.m.

Registration forms are available at the Daly City Recreation, Parks and Maintenance office, 134 Hillside Boulevard, or can be picked up the morning of the race at the registration tables.

Contestants will be required to pay a $1 entry fee, and a $1 registration fee, if they are not already registered with the A.A.U. Trophy and Medal awards will be given in five separate divisons.

Television's Big Names Often Visit Finocchio's

Jess White, who was Ann Sothern's costar in her famous TV comedy series, was recognized by the ringsiders at Finocchio's, and responded to his introduction by emcee Carroll Wallace by taking a bow. After the show, White went backstage to visit with some of the performers, and was especially impressed by the comedy antics of Jackie Phillips and Elton Paris, as well as the droll wit of Lucien, the "Male Sophie Tucker." . . . What you want is what you'll find at Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant, where the extensive menu covers the many meal possibilities from early lunch to late dinners. A crew of expert chefs puts finny and crustacean specialties on a production line basis, so there is very little waiting to be served. . . . Phil Lehr introduced the extra-dry "B.O.M." (Black Olive Martini) at his Steakery in downtown San Francisco, and it's now a top-selling cocktail nationwide. Phil's recipe calls for two ounces of chilled vodka, plus a super-colossal California Black Ripe Olive, stuffed with Bleu cheese and marinated in dry vermouth for just two seconds.

CONCERT ORGANIST — Korla Pandit, the mystic maestro of the organ who was an over-night TV sensation in 1948, will make a three-day Wurlitzer organ concert appearance at Ken's Melody Inn, Los Altos, on Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday (Nov. 7, 9, 10). Pandit will play a $160,000 theater pipe organ which was transplanted from the Oakland Paramount Theater, and was one of the last of the organs built before talkies and the Great Depression. There will be no charge for the concerts and regular food and beverage service will prevail.

Romano "Archbishop of Anchovies"

Sometimes we start things we can't finish. We recently put a new label on Enrico Romano, owner and operator of Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. We called him, in honor of his mastery over the pizza pie, the "Archbishop of Anchovies." Now everyone is calling in with new titles for this deserving chef. Among the suggestions: "Lear of Linguini" (a Shakespearean allusion), "Champion of Cheese," "Squire of Sausage," "Prince of Pepperoni" and, last but far from least, "Master of Mushrooms." . . . Frank Thatcher, founder of the Brave Bull restaurant empire and owner of Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn, was his own host one recent Saturday evening. He dined with friends at the Lord Fletcher, with the evening being part of a three-way birthday celebration for himself and a Mr. and Mrs. Johnson . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District, is as famous for gracious hospitality as it is for extra-choice, cut-to-order steaks. Hosts Lew and Edith Lehr personally supervise the operation of this famous dinner house.

Le Bistro Rouge Menu Surprise

If you will place yourself in the capable hands of Dimitrios Fanopoulos, owner-host of Le Bistro Rouge, allowing him to suggest a menu consistent with your taste and appetite, you should experience the meal of your life. At the request of countless satisfied diners here, this master craftsman of the kitchen is now serving luncheon, with several specials being featured daily. And whatever your entree choice, do save space for dessert — with homemade cheese cake in mind. Not open Mondays . . . The Ercoli Brothers, Joe and Lou, will open their elegant Leaning Tower restaurant for dining on Thanksgiving Day. Service will begin at 12 noon, and early reservations are suggested. The following Friday, November 26, the South City restaurant will not be open in order to give the hard-working crew a holiday . . . Much has been said about the wonderful barbecued items on Jon Coleman's Barbecue Inne dinner menu. But did you know that the restaurant is also open daily for lunch (except Mondays)? There are a variety of salads, as well as many excellent sandwiches. Low prices make having lunch out a double pleasure.

Ski Parties Park Ave. Specialty

The ski season is just around the corner! So look ahead by having your group plan a weekend excursion through Park Avenue Tours, which offers charters to both the Reno and Lake Tahoe areas. Winter rates are now in effect . . . Martini lovers have never had it so good! Jumbo cocktails, poured by your own hand, are only 75 cents in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel's Club Seville. These drinks are served by the pitcher, and have to rate as one of the best beverage buys on the local scene . . . Gary Lee, one of the Bay Area's premier pianobar entertainers, is currently presiding on weekends in the lounge of Stickney's in San Mateo. Beginning at 6 p.m., his soft song stylings provide a perfect background for cocktail sipping on Friday and Saturday evenings . . . Gourmet tip: The Exposition Shell Fish Special, as prepared by Art Davis, the award-winning chef at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto, Fisherman's Wharf. This combination of abalone, prawns, crab legs and scallops is a real palate pleaser.

PRETTY SUSAN PARK, new owner-host of The Village banquet and party complex on Columbus Ave. at Lombard St., in San Francisco, features Suntory Royal, the exceptionally smooth sipping whisky. "It's very popular with our parties that want the best," says Susan, "and also in Susan's Cocktail Lounge which is open every day from 4 p.m.

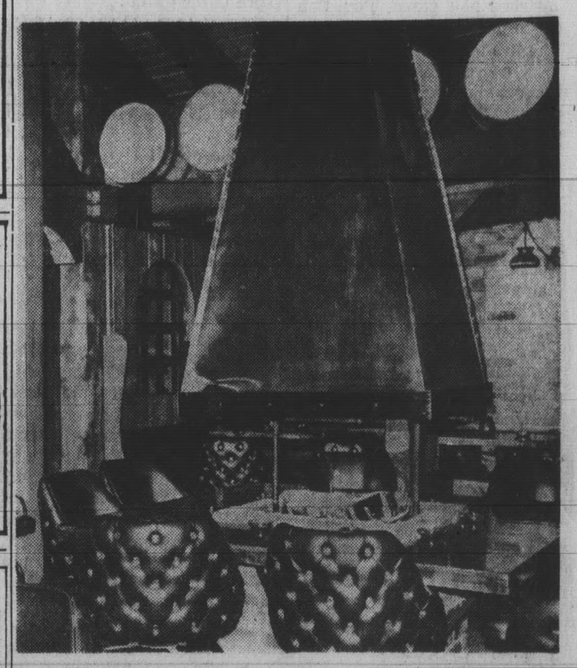
Villa Coffee House Is Welcome Retreat

The Greenbachs and their Villa Hotel staff have tried to send each guest forth as a booster, whether he comes for lodging, dining or entertainment. The casual Villa Coffee House is a welcome retreat for hungry travelers, and Peninsulans on the go. Breakfast, lunch and dinner menus offer a generous selection 24 hours a day. Relax in the luxurious surroundings of the Villa Lounge, where pianobar entertainment is featured from 5 p.m., and the Charlie Blackwell Trio plays for dancing from 9 p.m. . . . The waterside of the long dining room at Nick's at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, affords a view of the beach where people stroll and sea gulls strut. After a spiritous uplift at the bar, enrich your tastes on generous servings of such menu favorites as Broiled Lobster Tails, Deep Sea Scallops, Boneless Rib Steak and Chicken Saute. Open daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner, 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. . . . Many intriguing versions of enchiladas, tamales, tostadas, tacos, chiles rellenos, chile con carne and other native specialties are served in a true Mexican atmosphere at the Papagayo Room, Rockaway Beach. By popular demand, Owner Nick Gust has extended the "2 for 1" coupon offer of a Steak Picado or Large Combination Plate through November 28.



COZY CORNER — The intimate lounge of Russo's in San Bruno has been completely remodeled. Created by Mike Kane, the new decor extends throughout the lounge area and the restaurant's main dining room. Owner Vince Russo is renaming his establishment The Distillery and is planning a gala grand opening celebration within the next few days.

Holiday Parties In Banquet Room

With the holidays almost at hand, one of the busiest party facilities on the Peninsula is the Banque Room in The Shadows of San Mateo. This room occupies the entire ground floor of the former Crocker-Citizens Bank. Thickly carpeted and luxuriously decorated, the facility can accommodate groups of almost any size, regardless of the occasion. For information regarding available dates, call The Shadows and ask for George McCaman, general manager . . . You can expect to find almost every type of barbecued item on the menu at Lonnie's Southern Kitchen and Hickory Pit, on El Camino Real in Millbrae. Spareribs, beef, ham, steaks and burgers are all listed as house specialties. Open for only a few months, the restaurant's reputation for quality has rapidly spread. Lonnie, himself, oversees the food preparation. Homemade corn bread muffins and pies (sweet potato and apple) are big menu favorites, as well as the many luncheon and dinner entrees. You may also call the restaurant and order all items to take out. This is particularly true of the Southern Fried Chicken, which is sold by the bucket. Lonnie's will also prepare food for parties and gatherings of any size. Open daily from 11 a.m.; Sundays from 12 noon.

Bankers 'Bank' On Brandon

Margie Brandon went to work early one evening and found her organbar at Clancy's full of rollicking conventioneers who had taken over. Margie scanned the group and made a bee-line for the organ because she said it was obvious they needed a "leader." In a 'Den-Mother' fashion, the peppy entertainer got the group under control only to discover the noisy merry-makers included four presidents and six vice-presidents, all of whom are "leaders" in their own field — the banking business . . . Brotherly Love, now permanently marqueed at the rockin' Band Stand in Redwood City, perform nightly and during the after-hours show on Fridays and Saturdays . . . The Sound Barrier heads up the entertainment at Deejay's, Belmont, Wednesday through Sunday nights. Other well-known bands perform here on Mondays and Tuesdays . . . Hard Tymes is the group attracting huge crowds at The Putter, Burlingame Plaza . . . While you dine at Torres Beach restaurant, located just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One, try to secure a table near one of the huge bay windows so you can enjoy the sight of the rugged Pacifica Ocean below. Frank and Fannie Torres, who own and operate this superb restaurant, are famous for their South American specialties.

Hillsdale Inn To Have New Look

A bit of remodeling is taking place at the Hillsdale Inn. New carpeting has been added, as well as new wallpaper in the lobby area, and the workmen are now moving upstairs to the hotel's banquet facilities. Fresh paint and new signs will be the exterior additions. General Manager Les Sasada expects the entire project to be completed by the middle of November . . . Best bets in seafood at A. Sabella's, Fisherman's Wharf, are Broiled Filet of Turbot, most delicate of the flounder fish; Lobster Thermidor, and Baked Sea Bass. In the salad line (always a good luncheon draw) is Sabella's Special Pirate Salad. Diners can gaze out picture windows to admire the nautical view of Fisherman's Wharf . . . Small talk comes readily at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City, for everything in sight is a conversation piece, from the suit of armor in the foyer to the collection of campaign buttons displayed in the cocktail lounge. Incidentally, the chefs have a knowing touch with the menu here. Dinner entrees include such dishes as Barbecued Baby Back Ribs, Gourmet Platter for Two (sliced sirloin, barbecued ribs, chicken and scampi), and Broiled Mahi Mahi, to mention only a few.
